THE UNITED NATIONS AND THE SITUATION IN THE FORMER YUGOSLAVIA

Serious fighting in Croatia began in June 1991 when that republic and its northern neighbour, Slovenia, declared themselves independent from Yugoslavia,* and Serbs living in Croatia, supported by the Yugoslav People's Army (JNA), opposed this move. Efforts by the European Community to stop the hostilities in mid-1991 and to resolve the crisis in the framework of the Conference on Yugoslavia had proved unsuccessful.

The United Nations became actively involved in the situation in Yugoslavia on 25 September 1991 when the Security Council, meeting at the ministerial level, unanimously adopted its resolution 713 (1991) expressing deep concern at the fighting in that country and calling on all States to implement immediately a "general and complete embargo on all deliveries of weapons and military equipment to Yugoslavia". The Council commended and fully supported the efforts already undertaken by the European Community and its member States, with the support of the States participating in the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE), to restore peace and dialogue in Yugoslavia. By its resolution, the Council invited the Secretary-General to offer his assistance in consultation with the Government of Yugoslavia and all those promoting the peace efforts.

On 8 October 1991, then Secretary-General Javier Pérez de Cuéllar appointed Mr. Cyrus Vance, former United States Secretary of State, as his Personal Envoy for Yugoslavia. Thereafter, the Secretary-General and his Personal Envoy maintained constant contact with all the parties to the conflict, with the Presidency of the European Community, with the Chairman of the CSCE-participating States, with Lord Carrington, then Chairman of the European Community's Conference on Yugoslavia, and with other interested parties in their efforts to find a solution to the crisis. It soon became clear that the most valuable contribution the United Nations could make at that stage was a peace-keeping operation to create the necessary conditions for the pursuit of political negotiations for a peaceful settlement.

As part of the collective effort to stop the fighting and to find a peaceful solution to the conflict, the Secretary-General's Personal Envoy undertook several missions to Yugoslavia and discussed with all parties concerned, among other things, the feasibility of deploying a United Nations peace-keeping operation. On 23 November, the Personal Envoy convened in Geneva a meeting which was attended by the Presidents of Serbia and of Croatia and the Secretary of State for National Defence of Yugoslavia, as well as Lord Carrington. During the meeting, the Yugoslav parties reached agreement on an immediate cease-fire and on a number of other issues. Each of the Yugoslav parties expressed the wish to see the speedy establishment of a United Nations peace-keeping operation. However, while progress was made on the other issues, the cease-fire broke down almost immediately.

On 27 November, the Security Council, by its resolution 721 (1991), approved the efforts of the Secretary-General and his Personal Envoy, and endorsed the statement made by the Personal Envoy to the parties that the deployment of a United Nations peace-keeping operation in Yugoslavia could not be envisaged without full compliance by all parties with the Geneva agreement. During subsequent weeks of intensive negotiations with the parties concerned, the implementation of the Geneva agreement was pursued and the general principles were defined for a United Nations peace-keeping operation. On 15 December, the Security Council, by its resolution 724 (1991), approved the Secretary-General's report which contained a plan for a possible peace-keeping operation. A small group of military officers, civilian police and United Nations Secretariat staff travelled to Yugoslavia to prepare for the implementation of this plan.

Thereafter the Secretary-General and his Personal Envoy focused their efforts on consolidating the cease-fire and on securing unconditional acceptance of the United Nations plan by all parties to the conflict, including assurances of their readiness to cooperate fully in its implementation. Keeping the Security Council informed of these efforts and the developments in the country, the Secretary-General reported on several occasions that, despite widespread support in Yugoslavia for a United Nations peace-keeping operation, the necessary conditions for its establishment still did not exist.

On 2 January 1992, as part of his attempts to remove the remaining obstacles, the Personal Envoy convened in Sarajevo a meeting between military representatives of the Republic of Croatia and representatives of the JNA, at which the Implementing Accord on the unconditional cease-fire was signed. With the Security Council's concurrence, the newly elected Secretary-General, Boutros Boutros-Ghali then sent to Yugoslavia a group of 50 military liaison officers, with the task of using their good offices to promote maintenance of the cease-fire by facilitating communication between the two sides and by helping them to resolve difficulties that might arise. In the meantime, the Personal Envoy, the United Nations Under-Secretary-General for Peace-keeping Operations and their team continued their efforts to secure the cooperation of all Yugoslav parties in implementing the United Nations plan for a peace-keeping operation.

On 15 February 1992, notwithstanding the fact that certain political groups in Yugoslavia were still expressing objections to the United Nations plan, the Secretary-General recommended to the Security Council the establishment of the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR). In making this recommendation, he stressed that, in his view, the danger that a United Nations peace-keeping operation would fail for lack of cooperation from the parties was less grievous than the danger that delay in its dispatch would lead to a breakdown of the cease-fire and to a new conflagration.

On 21 February, the Security Council, by its resolution 743 (1992), approved the report and established UNPROFOR for an initial period of 12 months. The Council confirmed that the Force should be an interim arrangement to create the conditions of peace and security required for the negotiation of an overall settlement of the Yugoslav crisis within the framework of the European Community's Conference on Yugoslavia. It requested the Secretary-General to deploy immediately those elements of UNPROFOR which could assist in developing an implementation plan for the earliest possible full deployment of the Force.

On 7 April, after receiving a report from the Secretary-General on 2 April that all the Force Commander's interlocutors had emphasized the need for the earliest possible deployment of UNPROFOR, the Security Council, by its resolution 749 (1992), authorized the full deployment of the Force.

I. UNITED NATIONS PROTECTION FORCE

The operational mandate of UNPROFOR currently extends to five Republics of the former Yugoslavia – Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Macedonia, Montenegro and Serbia – and it has a liaison presence in the sixth, Slovenia.

UNPROFOR IN CROATIA

United Nations Protected Areas

UNPROFOR is deployed in certain areas in Croatia, designated as United Nations Protected Areas (UNPAs), in which the United Nations Security Council judged that special interim arrangements were required to ensure that a lasting cease-fire was maintained. The UNPAs are areas in which Serbs constitute the majority or a substantial minority of the population and where inter-communal tensions have led to armed conflict in the recent past.

There are three UNPAs: Eastern Slavonia, Western Slavonia and Krajina. For United Nations purposes, they have been divided into four sectors: East (Eastern Slavonia, which includes the areas known as Baranja and Western Srem), North (the northern part of the Krajina UNPA), South (the southern part of the Krajina UNPA) and West (Western Slavonia).

The original United Nations plan in Croatia rests on two central elements: (a) the withdrawal of the JNA from all of Croatia and the demilitarization of the UNPAs; and (b) the continuing functioning, on an interim basis, of the existing local authorities and police, under United Nations supervision, pending the achievement of an overall political solution to the crisis.

UNPROFOR's mandate is to ensure that the UNPAs are demilitarized, through the withdrawal or disbandment of all armed forces in them, and that all persons residing in them are protected from fear of armed attack. To this end, UNPROFOR is authorized to control access to the UNPAs, to ensure that the UNPAs remain demilitarized, and to monitor the functioning of the local police there to help ensure non-discrimination and the protection of human rights. Outside the UNPAs, UNPROFOR military observers will verify the withdrawal of all the JNA and irregular forces from Croatia, other than those disbanded and demobilized there. In support of the work of the humanitarian agencies of the United Nations, UNPROFOR is also to facilitate the return, in conditions of safety and security, of civilian displaced persons to their homes in the UNPAs.

UNPROFOR is under the command of the United Nations Secretary-General and members of the Force are not permitted to receive orders from national authorities. Command in the field is exercised by the Force Commander, Lieutenant-General Lars-Eric Wahlgren (Sweden),* who is assisted in the political aspects of his duties by the Deputy Chief of Mission and Director of Civil Affairs, Mr. Cedric Thornberry (Ireland). UNPROFOR initially established its headquarters in Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia and Herzegovina; it is now headquartered in Zagreb, the capital of Croatia. UNPROFOR includes a civilian component, which performs a wide range of political, legal, informational and administrative functions. UNPROFOR has established in each of the four sectors a civil affairs office whose head works alongside, and in close coordination with, the military commander of the sector.

"Pink zones"

On 26 June 1992, the Secretary-General reported on developments in certain areas of Croatia controlled by the JNA and populated by then largely by Serbs, but which were outside the agreed UNPA boundaries. The Belgrade authorities and local Serb leaders pressed strongly for these areas, known as "pink zones", to be included in the UNPAs. Croatian authorities resisted, equally strongly, any change in the UNPA boundaries. As the "pink zones" are not included in the original plan approved by the Security Council, the Secretary-General instructed the Force Commander of UNPROFOR to deploy and assume his responsibilities in all UNPAs in accordance with the plan, while pursuing with the Government of Croatia and the local Serb authorities alternative means of calming the fears of the Serb communities outside those areas in order to avoid any resumption of conflict.

On the recommendation of the Secretary-General, the Security Council, by resolution 762 (1992) of 30 June, authorized UNPROFOR to undertake monitoring functions in the "pink zones". It also recommended the establishment of a Joint Commission chaired by UNPROFOR and consisting of representatives of the Government of Croatia and of the local authorities in the region, with the participation of the European Community Monitoring Mission (ECMM), to oversee and monitor the restoration of authority by the Croatian Government in the "pink zones". The tasks assigned to UNPROFOR included verifying the immediate withdrawal of the Croatian Army, territorial defence forces and any irregular units from the "pink zones", supervising the restoration of authority by the Croatian police and the re-establishment of the local police in proportion to the demographic structure of the areas prior to the conflict and monitoring the maintenance of law and order by the existing police forces, with particular regard to the well-being of minorities. The Council approved the addition of some 60 military observers and 120 United Nations civilian police monitors to carry out these tasks.

Immigration and customs functions

In a 27 July report, the Secretary-General observed that UNPROFOR's mandate needed to be further enlarged if it was to succeed in establishing stable conditions in the UNPAs. Specifically, he recommended that UNPROFOR should be given authority to control the entry of civilians into the UNPAs and that it should have powers to perform immigration and customs functions on the international borders of certain areas in Croatia where the UNPA boundaries coincided with international frontiers. The Secretary-General estimated that additional civilian police and some 350 additional international personnel would be required to perform these functions. On 7 August, the Security Council, by its resolution 769 (1992), approved the Secretary-General's report and authorized the enlargements of UNPROFOR's strength and mandate recommended therein.

Prevlaka Peninsula and Peruca dam

The third enlargement of UNPROFOR's mandate in Croatia came about in October 1992, when the Secretary-General reported to the Security Council on an agreement reached regarding the Prevlaka Peninsula near Dubrovnik. Under this agreement, the Yugoslav Army would withdraw completely from Croatia, the Prevlaka Peninsula would be demilitarized, and heavy weapons would be removed from neighbouring areas of Croatia and Montenegro. On 6 October, the Security Council, by its resolution 779 (1992), authorized UNPROFOR to assume responsibility for monitoring the agreed arrangements. By the same resolution, the Council approved the Secretary-General's action to ensure the control by UNPROFOR of the vitally important Peruca dam, situated in one of the "pink zones" in Croatia.

*Lieutenant-General Wahlgren succeeded Lieutenant-General Satish Nambiar of India in March 1993.

Renewed hostilities

On 22 January 1993, the Croatian Army launched an offensive in a number of locations in the southern part of UNPROFOR's Sector South and the adjacent "pink zones". The Croatian Government stated that it took this action out of impatience with the slow progress of negotiations in respect of various economic facilities in and adjacent to the UNPAs and "pink zones". On 27 January, the Croatian Army attacked and captured the Peruca dam. The Serbs responded to the Croatian offensive by breaking into a number of storage areas, which were under joint control under a double-lock system in the UNPAs, and by removing their weapons, including heavy weapons.

UNPROFOR warned both the Croatian Government and the Serb authorities not to attempt further incursions into the UNPAs. The Force also sought to limit the damage caused by the fighting, and made repeated representations to the parties concerned with a view to preventing escalation and bringing about a cease-fire.

On 25 January, the Security Council adopted its resolution 802 (1993), in which it demanded an immediate cessation of hostile activities by Croatian armed forces within or adjacent to the UNPAs and their withdrawal from these areas, an end to attacks against UNPROFOR personnel, return of all heavy weapons seized from UNPROFOR- controlled storage areas, and strict compliance by all parties with the terms of cease-fire arrangements. It called upon all parties to cooperate fully with the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia (see p. 16) and to refrain from any actions which might undermine efforts aimed at reaching a political settlement.

As to the implementation of this resolution, the Croatian Government on 26 January informed the Force Commander of UNPROFOR that, upon compliance by the Serb side with the various provisions of the resolution, they would remove their military, but not their police, from the areas they had taken. For its part, the Serb side stated that Croatia must return to its pre-22 January positions before the implementation of the remainder of the resolution could be considered.

Eventually, after several rounds of talks held under the auspices of the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, the Government of Croatia and the Serb local authorities signed an agreement regarding the implementation of resolution 802 (1993) (see p. 14).

UNPROFOR IN BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA

Background

Although the mandate of UNPROFOR originally related only to Croatia, it was envisaged that after the demilitarization of the UNPAs, 100 UNPROFOR military observers would be redeployed from Croatia to certain parts of Bosnia and Herzegovina. However, in light of the deteriorating situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Secretary-General decided to accelerate this deployment by sending 40 military observers to the Mostar region of that Republic on 30 April 1992. In May, despite all efforts by the European Community representatives and UNPROFOR to negotiate a lasting cease-fire, the conflict — between the Bosnian Muslims and the Bosnian Croats on the one side and the Bosnian Serbs on the other — intensified. On 14 May, when risks to their lives reached an unacceptable level, the observers were withdrawn from the area and redeployed in the UNPAs in Croatia. About two thirds of UNPROFOR headquarters personnel were also relocated from Sarajevo on 16 and 17 May.

The approximately 100 military personnel and civilian staff remaining in Sarajevo continued arranging, hosting and sometimes chairing meetings between the hostile parties; accompanying delegations to such meetings, arranging and witnessing exchanges of prisoners, wounded and war dead; and performing other humanitarian tasks.

In the meantime, alarmed by the rapid deterioration of the situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Security Council, in its resolution 749 (1992) of 7 April, appealed to all parties and others concerned to cooperate with the efforts of the European Community to bring about a cease-fire and a negotiated political solution. On 10 April, the Council invited the Secretary-General to dispatch urgently to the area his Personal Envoy to act in close cooperation with representatives of the European Community. Mr. Vance undertook his mission from 14 to 18 April. Despite all efforts aimed at stopping the fighting, however, the situation continued to deteriorate.

On 29 April, the Secretary-General informed the Security Council of his decision to dispatch Mr. Marrack Goulding, Under-Secretary-General for Peace-keeping Operations, to examine the evolving situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina and to look into the feasibility of a United Nations peace-keeping operation. Following Mr. Goulding's mission on 4-10 May, the Secretary-General reported to the Council that "it is not at present feasible" to undertake peace-keeping activities in Bosnia and Herzegovina "beyond the existing limited involvement of UNPROFOR in Sarajevo and in the Mostar region".

On 15 May, the Security Council, in its resolution 752 (1992), demanded, inter alia, that all forms of interference from outside Bosnia and Herzegovina, including by units of the JNA as well as elements of the Croatian Army, cease immediately. The Council also demanded that those units of the JNA and elements of the Croatian Army in Bosnia and Herzegovina must either be withdrawn, become subject to the authority of the Government of Bosnia and Herzegovina, or be disbanded and disarmed. It further demanded that "all irregular forces" in Bosnia and Herzegovina be disbanded and disarmed. The Council requested the Secretary-General to continue to keep under review the possibility of deploying a peace-keeping mission in Bosnia and Herzegovina and emphasized the need for humanitarian assistance.

Sanctions

On 26 May 1992, the Secretary-General submitted a further report to the Security Council summarizing the humanitarian situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina and describing various options for providing assistance and protection for humanitarian convoys. On 30 May, the Council, in its resolution 757 (1992), condemned the failure of the authorities in Yugoslavia (which by then consisted of Serbia and Montenegro), including the JNA, to take effective measures to fulfil the requirements of resolution 752. The Council instituted an embargo on Yugoslav (Serbia and Montenegro) products and commodities, financial and economic contacts, and suspended sports contacts as well as scientific, technical and cultural exchanges. The resolution also imposes an air embargo and the reduction of staff levels at Yugoslav (Serbia and Montenegro) diplomatic missions. Exempt from the sanctions are foodstuffs and medical supplies, as well as UNPROFOR-related goods and services. The sanctions are to remain in effect until the Council decides that the authorities in Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro), including the JNA, have taken effective steps to fulfil the requirements of resolution 752. Subsequently, by resolution 760 (1992) of 18 June, the Security Council decided that sanctions should not apply to those items essential for humanitarian need.

In adopting resolution 757 on 30 May, the Council also demanded that all parties create immediately the necessary conditions for unimpeded delivery of humanitarian supplies to Sarajevo and other destinations in Bosnia and Herzegovina, including the establishment of a security zone encompassing Sarajevo and its airport. It reiterated its call that all parties continue their efforts in the framework of the European Community's Conference on Yugoslavia and that the three communities in Bosnia and Herzegovina resume their discussions on constitutional arrangements for that country.

Security arrangements at Sarajevo airport

On 6 June 1992, the Secretary-General reported to the Security Council that UNPROFOR had negotiated, on 5 June, an agreement for the handing over, to the Force, of Sarajevo airport so that it could be made available for humanitarian purposes. Under the agreement, UNPROFOR would ensure the immediate security of the airport and its installations, supervise the operation of the airport, control its facilities and organization, facilitate the unloading of humanitarian cargo and ensure the safe movement of humanitarian aid and related personnel. UNPROFOR would also verify the withdrawal of anti-aircraft weapons systems from within range of the airport and its approaches and monitor the concentration of artillery, mortar, and ground-to-ground missile systems in specified areas which would be agreed by it. In his report, the Secretary-General stated that the addition of these new functions to UNPROFOR's mandate and a corresponding increase of the Force's strength would require the consent of the Council. By resolution 758 (1992) of 8 June, the Security Council decided to enlarge the mandate and strength of UNPROFOR in accordance with the Secretary-General's recommendations.

On 10 June, the Force Commander of UNPROFOR decided to dispatch his Chief of Staff to Sarajevo as Commander-designate of UNPROFOR's new Sarajevo sector. He was accompanied by an advance party including some United Nations military observers and reconnaissance elements drawn from the UNPROFOR's Canadian infantry battalion.

Following intensive work by UNPROFOR to establish the modalities of implementation of the 5 June agreement, and a visit to Sarajevo by President François Mitterrand of France on 28 June, the Secretary-General reported to the Security Council on 29 June that considerable progress had been made toward the assumption by UNPROFOR of responsibility for the airport. Both sides — the Serb and the Bosnian Presidential forces — had begun concentrating their heavy weapons in locations to be supervised by UNPROFOR. The Secretary-General requested that the Council take advantage of the opportunity and authorize the deployment of additional elements of UNPROFOR necessary to secure and operationalize the airport.

By resolution 761 (1992) of 29 June, the Security Council authorized the Secretary-General to deploy immediately additional elements of UNPROFOR to ensure the security and functioning of Sarajevo airport and the delivery of humanitarian assistance. Since then, despite continued fighting in the area around the airport and in the nearby suburb, there was a gradual build-up of UNPROFOR personnel in the Sarajevo sector. The first group of 30 was deployed to the airport on 28 June. French troops began to arrive on 1 July and the Canadian battalion was temporarily redeployed to Sarajevo from Croatia on 2 July. By 3 July, United Nations observers and troops were deployed at the airport and at other locations in Sarajevo, and the airport was reopened for the humanitarian airlift.

On 13 July, the Security Council, by resolution 764 (1992), authorized the Secretary-General to further strengthen UNPROFOR in accordance with his request of 10 July, adding an air traffic element, a helicopter unit, and artillery-locating radar, signal and medical platoons. At the end of July, the Canadian battalion was replaced by three smaller battalions contributed by Egypt, France and the Ukraine.

Further developments

On 17 July 1992, the parties to the conflict in Bosnia and Herzegovina signed in London an agreement, in which they, inter alia, asked the Security Council to make arrangements for international supervision of all their heavy weapons. The agreement had been negotiated within the framework of the European Conference on Yugoslavia. Later that day, in a statement made by its President, the Security Council welcomed the London Agreement and decided in principle to respond positively to this request. The Council called upon the parties to declare immediately to UNPROFOR the locations and quantities of the heavy weapons to be placed under international supervision. The Council further requested the Secretary-General to report on the implementation and resource implications of this decision.

On 21 July, the Secretary-General submitted to the Security Council a proposed concept of operations for the supervision of heavy weapons throughout the territory of Bosnia and Herzegovina, which would require some 1,100 additional United Nations observers. At the same time, he pointed out that, so far, none of the parties had declared the locations and quantities of weapons to be supervised. Under these circumstances, the Secretary-General concluded that conditions did not exist for him to recommend at that time that the Council accept the request for supervision solicited by the London agreement.

On 24 July, the Security Council concurred with the Secretary-General's view and emphasized the need for the parties to the London Agreement to respect and maintain a cease-fire throughout the entire territory of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and for them to declare immediately the locations and quantities of the heavy weapons.

Protection of humanitarian convoys

In separate developments, the Security Council, disturbed by the situation prevailing in Sarajevo, which severely complicated UNPROFOR's efforts to ensure the security and functioning of Sarajevo airport and the delivery of humanitarian assistance, adopted resolution 770 (1992) on 13 August. The Council, acting under Chapter VII of the United Nations Charter, called on States to "take nationally or through regional agencies or arrangements all measures necessary" to facilitate, in coordination with the United Nations, the delivery of humanitarian assistance to Sarajevo and wherever needed in other parts of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

In further discussions, however, it was decided that that task should be entrusted to UNPROFOR. On 10 September, following consultations with a number of Governments, the Secretary-General submitted a further report to the Security Council recommending the expansion of UNPROFOR's mandate and strength in Bosnia and Herzegovina. He proposed that UNPROFOR's task, under its enlarged mandate, would be to support efforts by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) to deliver humanitarian relief throughout Bosnia and Herzegovina, and in particular to provide protection, at UNHCR's request, where and when UNHCR considered such protection necessary. In addition, UNPROFOR could be used to protect convoys of released civilian detainees if the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) so requested and if the Force Commander agreed that the request was practicable. UNPROFOR would be deployed in four or five new zones. In each zone there would be an infantry battalion group, whose headquarters would also include civilian staff to undertake political and information functions and liaison with UNHCR. UNPROFOR troops would follow normal peacekeeping rules of engagement, which authorize them to use force in self-defence, including situations in which armed persons attempt by force to prevent them from carrying out their mandate.

In resolution 776 (1992), which was adopted on 14 September 1992 and which made no reference to Chapter VII of the Charter, the Security Council approved the Secretary-General's report and authorized the enlargement of UNPROFOR's mandate and strength in Bosnia and Herzegovina for these purposes. In this regard, the Council noted with appreciation the offers of a number of Member States to make available military personnel without cost to the United Nations. A separate Bosnia and Herzegovina Command was established within UNPROFOR to implement resolution 776 (1992), in addition to Sector Sarajevo.

"No-fly zone"

In a further development, the Security Council, on 9 October, adopted its resolution 781 (1992) banning all military flights in the air space of Bosnia and Herzegovina, except for those of UNPROFOR and other flights in support of United Nations operations, including humanitarian assistance. The Council requested UNPROFOR to monitor compliance with the ban, and that it place observers, where necessary, at air fields in the former Yugoslavia. The Council also requested that the Force employ "an appropriate mechanism for approval and inspection" to ensure that the purpose of other flights to and from Bosnia and Herzegovina was consistent with its resolutions.

The Security Council further requested the Secretary-General to report periodically on the implementation of the ban and to report immediately any evidence of violations. It undertook to examine without delay all such information and to consider urgently further measures necessary to enforce the ban. It also called on States to provide technical assistance to UNPROFOR in its monitoring efforts. On 10 November, the Security Council adopted its resolution 781 (1992) authorizing the expansion of UNPROFOR's strength by 75 military observers to enable it to monitor airfields in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro). (See also p. 12.)

Border control

On 16 November, the Security Council adopted its resolution 787 (1992), in which, among other things, it considered that, in order to facilitate the implementation of the relevant Council resolutions, observers should be deployed on the borders of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and requested the Secretary-General to present his recommendations on this matter. The resolutions in question were: resolution 713 (1991) which, inter alia, established a general and complete embargo on all deliveries of weapons and military equipment to Yugoslavia; resolution 752 (1992) which, inter alia, demanded that all forms of interference from outside Bosnia and Herzegovina, including by units of the JNA as well as elements of the Croatian Army, cease immediately; resolution 757 (1992) which imposed comprehensive mandatory economic sanctions against the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro); and resolution 787 (1992) which, inter alia, demanded that all forms of interference from outside Bosnia and Herzegovina, including infiltration into the country of irregular units and personnel, cease immediately.

On 21 December, the Secretary-General submitted to the Council his recommendations. In the report, he indicated that in order to ensure compliance with the relevant Security Council resolutions, it would be necessary to give UNPROFOR a mandate which would include the right not only to search but also to turn back or confiscate military personnel, weapons, or sanctioned goods whose passage into or out of Bosnia and Herzegovina would be contrary to the decisions of the Council. He pointed out that a symbolic presence at selected crossing points would "not only fail to fulfil the Council's requirements, but would also undermine the already strained credibility of UNPROFOR". He proposed, therefore, an enlargement of UNPROFOR with some 10,000 additional troops to provide for 24-hour observation and search operation at 123 crossing points on Bosnia and Herzegovina's border with neighbouring countries.

UNPROFOR IN THE FORMER YUGOSLAV REPUBLIC OF MACEDONIA

On 11 November 1992, the President of Macedonia conveyed to the Secretary-General a request for the deployment of United Nations observers in Macedonia in view of his concern about possible impact on it of fighting elsewhere in the former Yugoslavia. Such deployment was also recommended by Mr. Vance and Lord Owen, Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia. With the Security Council's approval, the Secretary-General sent to Macedonia from 28 November to 3 December a group of military, police and civilian personnel to assess the situation and prepare a report concerning a possible deployment of UNPROFOR in that Rebublic.

On 9 December, the Secretary-General submitted to the Council a report in which he recommended an expansion of the mandate and strength of UNPROFOR to establish a United Nations presence on Macedonia's borders with Albania and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro). He indicated that the Force's mandate would be essentially preventive, to monitor and report any developments in the border areas which could undermine confidence and stability in Macedonia and threaten its territory. The Secretary-General recommended that the enlargement of UNPROFOR comprise an estimated one battalion of up to 700 all ranks, 35 military observers, 26 civilian police monitors, 10 civil affairs staff, 45 administrative staff and local interpreters. This contingent is to operate under UNPROFOR's "Macedonia Command" with headquarters in Skopje, the capital of Macedonia. The Security Council, by its resolution 795 (1992) of 11 December, approved the Secretary-General's report and authorized the establishment of UNPROFOR's presence in Macedonia.

SECRETARY-GENERAL REVIEWS UNPROFOR'S ACTIVITIES

As already noted, UNPROFOR was established on 21 February 1992 by Security Council resolution 743 (1992) for an initial period of 12 months. On 10 February 1993, before the mandate of the Force expired, the Secretary-General submitted to the Council a report in which he summarized the activities of UNPROFOR and presented his recommendations on its future.

Croatia

In analyzing the situation in Croatia, the Secretary-General described UNPROFOR's experience there as a mixed one. Its principal success has been in ensuring the complete withdrawal of the JNA from the territory of Croatia, including the Prevlaka Peninsula. Until the fourth week of January 1993, UNPROFOR's presence had also helped to prevent a recurrence of hostilities in the UNPAs and "pink zones". However, non-cooperation by the local Serb authorities had prevented UNPROFOR from achieving the demilitarization of the UNPAs and the disarming of the Serb Territorial Defence and irregular forces in these areas and in the "pink zones". As a result, UNPROFOR had not been able to establish the conditions of peace and security that would have permitted the voluntary return of refugees and displaced persons to their homes in these areas. Nor had it been able to establish the border controls called for in resolution 769 (1992).

The civilian aspects of UNPROFOR's activities, notably the efforts of United Nations civilian police to prevent discrimination and abuse of the human rights of residents in the UNPAs, had not proved fully successful despite UNPROFOR's best efforts. An atmosphere of terror and intimidation existed in many parts of the four sectors through much of the first ten months of the mandate period. However, since November 1992, the situation had shown improvement in all but a few areas. The maintenance of law and order was gradually enhanced through the reorganization and redeployment of the local police.

However, while the non-cooperation of the local Serb authorities had seriously impeded implementation of the United Nations peace-keeping plan, the Croatian offensive on and after 22 January 1993, referred to above, had significantly altered the situation on the ground. The President of Croatia, Mr. Franjo Tudjman, declared that the willingness of his Government to agree to an extension of UNPROFOR's mandate was dependent on progress in a number of areas. He also urged the Council to grant UNPROFOR an enforcement mandate. For its part, the Serb leadership in the UNPAs had re-armed and remobilized its forces in response to the Croatian offensive and had received substantial reinforcements of Serb fighters from elsewhere in the former Yugoslavia. Serb militias had broken into storage depots holding heavy weapons placed there under the peace-keeping plan. The Serb side had also refused to enter into negotiations with the Croat side, or to return the heavy weapons taken from storage, unless the Croatian armed forces withdrew to the positions they occupied before the offensive. Such a withdrawal, in turn, was categorically rejected by the Croatian authorities.

In addition, the Secretary-General continued, the circumstances in which the peace-keeping plan was drafted and agreed in late 1991 and early 1992 had themselves changed. The plan was envisaged as an interim arrangement pending an overall political solution to the Yugoslav crisis. The Government of Croatia claimed there was no longer any "overall political solution" to negotiate. The only issue was the return of the UNPAs and the "pink zones" to Croatian control. The Serb leadership in the UNPAs, however, refused to consider these territories to be a part of Croatia and rejected talks on this basis, recalling that the plan was explicitly not intended to prejudge a political solution to the Yugoslav crisis. Further, the Serbs argued that two parties to the original plan, the President of Serbia and the Federal Yugoslav military authorities in Belgrade, no longer have recognized legal status in the areas where UNPROFOR is deployed. Therefore, the mandate and deployment of UNPROFOR now needed to be discussed anew with the Serbs representing the so-called "Republic of Serb Krajina".

In these circumstances, the Secretary-General saw three options with regard to UNPROFOR's mandate in Croatia: (1) to renew the mandate entrusted to UNPROFOR by resolution 743 (1992), with no change; (2) to modify that mandate; and (3) to give UNPROFOR no mandate in Croatia and confine its operations to Bosnia and Herzegovina and to Macedonia.

Referring to option one, the Secretary-General stated that the Government of Croatia made it clear that it could agree to a renewal of UNPROFOR's present mandate only if certain conditions were met, including the complete disarmament of all paramilitary forces and militia in the UNPAs and the "pink zones" with a destruction of their heavy weapons, voluntary and unconditional return of all refugees and displaced persons to their homes in the UNPAs, maintenance of tight controls by the Force in those border areas where the boundaries of the UNPAs coincide with internationally recognized frontiers of Croatia; and restoration of Croatian authority in the "pink zones". The Government's position, in effect, required UNPROFOR either to negotiate results which — as a peace-keeping force relying on the cooperation of the parties — it had no power to compel the other side to accept, or to risk unilateral military action by the Government. In addition, the Croatian offensive had had a devastating effect on cooperation between UNPROFOR and the local Serb authorities, who felt "betrayed" by what they saw as UNPROFOR's failure to protect them, and had put in doubt the feasibility of a return to the original plan.

On the second option, the Secretary-General warned against any modification resulting in enforcement action, saying that such action would involve the danger of placing UNPROFOR in direct conflict with the Serbs. Enforcement would also require additional military forces and equipment which could not be deployed immediately upon the passage of an enforcement resolution by the Security Council. The mere passage of an enforcement resolution risked threatening the safety and security of United Nations peace-keeping personnel currently deployed in the UNPAs and some, perhaps most, troop-contributing countries might in these circumstances review their participation in UNPROFOR. Enforcement, the Secretary-General stated, "would be a fundamental contradiction of the nature and purpose of UNPROFOR's deployment in Croatia, as a peace-keeping force entrusted with the implementation of a plan agreed by all parties." As to an alternative modification of the mandate which would convert UNPROFOR into a buffer force deployed along the present front lines in order to prevent a recurrence of hostilities, the Secretary-General did not believe that such an approach would receive the consent of the Government of Croatia.

Speaking of option three, the Secretary-General believed that the withdrawal of UNPROFOR from the UNPAs would almost certainly result in the resumption of large-scale hostilities in the areas of its deployment, nullifying the political effort and the material resources invested in ending the conflict that had raged for nearly a year before the deployment of UNPROFOR.

In the Secretary-General's judgment, the difficulties which UNPROFOR and the Security Council faced with regard to the Force's mandate in Croatia could be attributed to two principal factors: the inability to implement the peace-keeping plan; and the lack of an agreed settlement to the conflict between the Republic of Croatia and the Serb populations living in the UNPAs and the "pink zones". Unless these two factors were addressed, the Secretary-General concluded, a sound basis would not exist for renewing UNPROFOR's mandate in Croatia. Urgent efforts needed to be made to resolve the problems arising from the Croatian offensive, to establish a basis for completing the implementation of the United Nations peace-keeping plan and to agree on a framework for negotiating, within the principles of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, a settlement of the underlying dispute. The Secretary-General added that he had asked the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference to address these questions urgently with a view to establishing as soon as possible a basis on which a substantive recommendation could be made for an extension of UNPROFOR's mandate.

In the meantime, the Secretary-General recommended that the Security Council decide to extend UNPROFOR's existing mandate for an interim period up to 31 March 1993, in order to give the Co-Chairmen the necessary time.

Bosnia and Herzegovina

Speaking of UNPROFOR activities in Bosnia and Herzegovina, where it had a more limited mandate, the Secretary-General noted in his February 1993 report that the Force had succeeded in keeping Sarajevo airport open, despite interruptions as a result of hostile military action against humanitarian aircraft. In the period from 3 July 1992 to 31 January 1993, the humanitarian airlift organized by UNHCR under UNPROFOR protection brought in 2,476 aircraft carrying 27,460 tons of food, medicines and other relief goods.*

The operation to protect humanitarian convoys throughout the Republic has been persistently thwarted by obstruction, mines, hostile fire and the refusal of the parties on the ground, particularly, but not exclusively, the Bosnian Serb party, to cooperate with UNPROFOR. None the less, from the deployment of additional UNPROFOR battalions for this purpose in November 1992 until January 1993, a total of some 34,600 tons of relief supplies had been delivered to an estimated 800,000 beneficiaries in 110 locations throughout Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Although the ban on military flights in the airspace of Bosnia and Herzegovina had been violated by all three parties on nearly 400 occasions since its imposition, it had achieved its principal purpose of preventing the use of air power in military combat in the Republic. UNPROFOR observers, using AWACS information made available by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), had found no evidence to suggest that any party has flown combat air missions, or conducted hostilities from the air, since the interdiction regime was established by the Council (see SECURITY COUNCIL DECIDES TO ENFORCE "NO-FLY ZONE" below).

UNPROFOR's efforts in Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Secretary-General pointed out, had been characterized by a regrettable tendency on the part of the host Government to blame it for a variety of shortcomings, whether real or imagined. Criticism of UNPROFOR's performance in the Republic had largely been directed at its failure to fulfil tasks that the Force had not been mandated, authorized, equipped, staffed or financed to fulfil. There had been a number of attacks on the Force by the Government and by elements answerable to it, both in public statements and declarations and, more seriously, through violence, resulting in several UNPROFOR fatalities.

*On 18 March 1993, UNHCR reported that a total of 32,606 tons of food and supplies, brought in by 3,000 aircraft, had been delivered.

As to UNPROFOR's mandate in Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Secretary-General stated that it may need to be altered significantly when the outcome is known of the current talks led by the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia.

The Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia

Referring to Macedonia, the Secretary-General considered it premature to draw conclusions about the practicability of the mandate and the effectiveness of the UNPROFOR Macedonia Command in this first preventive deployment operation in the history of United Nations peace-keeping.

INTERIM EXTENSION OF UNPROFOR'S MANDATE

On 19 February 1993, having considered the Secretary-General's report, the Security Council adopted resolution 807 (1993), by which it extended UNPROFOR's mandate for an interim period until 31 March 1993. The Council demanded, inter alia, that the parties and others concerned comply fully with the United Nations peace-keeping plan in Croatia and their other commitments, and refrain from positioning their forces near the UNPAs and in the "pink zones". It invited the Secretary-General to take all appropriate measures to strengthen the security of the Force, in particular by providing it with the necessary defensive means.

The Council urged the parties and others concerned to cooperate fully with the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia in the discussions under their auspices in order to ensure full implementation of the United Nations peace-keeping mandate in Croatia. It also demanded the full and strict observance of all relevant Security Council resolutions relating to the mandate and operations of UNPROFOR in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

SECURITY COUNCIL DECIDES TO ENFORCE "NO-FLY ZONE"

On 16 March 1993, the Secretary-General reported that three aircraft dropped bombs on two villages east of Srebrenica on 13 March, before leaving in the direction of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro). It was the first time since the Security Council instituted the "no-fly zone" in Bosnia and Herzegovina that aircraft were used in combat activity in that country. UNPROFOR has not been able to determine to whom the aircraft belonged. On 17 March, the Security Council, in a statement by its President, strongly condemned all violations of its relevant resolutions and underlined the fact that since the beginning of the monitoring operations in early November 1992, the United Nations had reported 465 violations of the "no-fly zone". The Council demanded from the Bosnian Serbs an immediate explanation of the violations and particularly of the aerial bombardment of the two villages, and requested the Secretary-General to ensure that an investigation was made of the reported possible use of the territory of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) to launch air strikes against Bosnia and Herzegovina. On 27 April, the Secretary-General reported to the Council that on 24 March the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) had been requested to provide any information relevant to the incidents. The only response received was a note verbale conveying a statement by the Government of that country, in which it stated that "airplanes and helicopters of the Air Forces of the Army of Yugoslavia have not violated the airspace of Bosnia and Herzegovina since the no-fly zone came into effect".

On 31 March, the Security Council adopted its resolution 816 (1993), by which it extended the ban on military flights to cover flights by all fixed-wing and rotary-wing aircraft in the airspace of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Acting under Chapter VII of the Charter, the Council authorized Member States, seven days after the adoption of the resolution, acting nationally or through regional arrangements, to take, under the authority of the Security Council and subject to close coordination with the Secretary-General and UNPROFOR, "all necessary measures" in the airspace of Bosnia and Herzegovina to ensure compliance with the ban on flights, and proportionate to the specific circumstances and the nature of flights. It also requested the Member States concerned, the Secretary-General and UNPROFOR to coordinate closely on those measures and on the starting date of the implementation, which was to be no later than fourteen days from the date of the resolution, and to report on the starting date to the Council.

On 9 April, the Secretary-General transmitted to the Security Council a letter from the Secretary-General of NATO, Dr. Manfred Wörner, informing him that the North Atlantic Council had adopted the "necessary arrangements" to ensure compliance with the ban on military flights and that it was prepared to begin the operation at noon GMT on 12 April 1993. Dr. Wörner also reported that so far, France, the Netherlands, Turkey, the United Kingdom and the United States had offered to make aircraft available for the operation. In order to commence the enforcement on time, aircraft from France, the Netherlands and the United States were initially deployed in the region and liaison cells were established at UNPROFOR's headquarters in Zagreb and in Bosnia and Herzegovina (Kiseljak). In addition, UNPROFOR would send a liaison team to the command headquarters of the NATO countries concerned.

The operations authorized by resolution 816 (1993) started, as scheduled, on 12 April at 12.00 GMT. Subsequently, the Secretary-General was informed by NATO that all the countries offering to make aircraft available for the operation would participate fully in it.

UNPROFOR'S MANDATE EXTENDED FOR FURTHER THREE MONTHS

In accordance with Security Council resolution 807 (1993) mentioned earlier, the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia held several rounds of talks in New York and Geneva with representatives of the Government of Croatia and the Serb populations living in the UNPAs and the "pink zones". In his 25 March report to the Council, the Secretary-General stated that while some progress had been made in these talks, fundamental differences remained between the two sides. Having said that more time would be needed to bring the negotiations to a meaningful conclusion, he recommended the extension of UNPROFOR's mandate for a further interim period of three months. He urged the parties to cooperate in implementing UNPROFOR's existing mandate, and to resolve any remaining differences in a spirit of compromise and cooperation.

On 30 March, the Security Council, by adopting its resolution 815 (1993), extended the mandate of UNPROFOR for an additional interim period until 30 June 1993. It also decided to reconsider within one month, or at any time at the request of the Secretary-General, UNPROFOR's mandate in light of developments of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia and the situation on the ground. The Council requested the Secretary-General to report to it on how the United Nations peace plan for Croatia can be effectively implemented.

IMPLEMENTATION OF RESOLUTION 802

Further efforts by the representatives of the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia to reduce tensions in Croatia produced results in relation to the implementation of Security Council resolution 802 (1993). On 8 April 1993, the Secretary-General reported to the Council that representatives of the Government of Croatia and the Serb local authorities had signed, on 6 April, an agreement regarding this resolution (see p. 6).

According to one of the provisions of the agreement, it shall enter into force when the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee have received from both parties assurances regarding the stationing of police in the areas from which the Croatian Government's armed forces are withdrawn, and their agreement that UNPROFOR shall exclusively fulfil all police functions in those areas during an interim period. The Croats orally gave that assurance at the time of signature; the Serb assurance required the approval of their Assembly. That approval has not been received as of 7 May; the agreement therefore has not entered into force.

The agreement provides, from three days of its coming into force, for the cessation of hostilities and strict compliance with the cease-fire arrangements. Within five days from the cessation of hostilities, the Croatian forces are to commence their withdrawal to the line of confrontation existing before the outbreak of hostilities on 22 January 1993, and to complete this withdrawal within a further five days. No Serb armed forces are to enter the areas from which the Croatian forces withdrew. In parallel with that, over a maximum period of 10 days, all Serb heavy weapons in the area were to be returned to UNPROFOR supervision.

The parties also agreed to begin talks, under the auspices of the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee, within 15 days of implementation of the agreement in order to resolve outstanding obstacles to the full implementation of the United Nations plan for Croatia.

The Force Commander of UNPROFOR has assessed the additional resources required to implement the agreement and has recommended that UNPROFOR be augmented by two mechanized infantry battalions of some 900 all ranks each, one engineer company of up to 150 troops all ranks, and 50 additional military observers. The Secretary-General recommended that, once the agreement enters into force, the Security Council approves the recommended changes to UNPROFOR's strength and mandate.

"SAFE AREAS" IN BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA

In March 1993, fighting intensified in eastern Bosnia and Herzegovina, with Bosnian Serb paramilitary units attacking several cities in the area, including Srebrenica. The military attacks resulted in a heavy loss of life among the civilian population and severely impeded United Nations humanitarian relief efforts in the area. In mid-March, UNHCR reported that thousands of Muslims were seeking refuge in Srebrenica from surrounding areas which were being attacked and occupied by Serb forces, and that 30 or 40 persons were dying daily from military action, starvation, exposure to cold or lack of medical treatment. In April, despite the strong political pressure from the international community and the Security Council, and the efforts by UNPROFOR and UNHCR in the field, the fighting persisted and the humanitarian situation in the area continued to deteriorate.

On 16 April, the Security Council, acting under Chapter VII of the Charter, adopted resolution 819 (1993), in which it demanded that all parties treat Srebrenica and its surroundings as a "safe area" which should be free from any armed attack or any other hostile act. It demanded the immediate withdrawal of Bosnian Serb paramilitary units from areas surrounding Srebrenica and the cessation of armed attacks against that town. The Council requested the Secretary-General to take steps to increase the presence of UNPROFOR in Srebrenica and to arrange for the safe transfer of ill and wounded, and demanded the unimpeded delivery of humanitarian assistance to all parts of Bosnia and Herzegovina, in particular to the civilian population of Srebrenica.

By other provisions of the resolution, the Council condemned and rejected the deliberate actions of the Bosnian Serb party to force the evacuation of civilians from Srebrenica and other parts of Bosnia and Herzegovina in its campaign of "ethnic cleansing". It also decided to send a mission of Council members to ascertain, firsthand, the situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Following the adoption of the resolution, the UNPROFOR's Force Commander, the Commander of the Serb forces and the Commander of the Bosnian Muslim forces signed, on 17 April, an agreement for the demilitarization of Srebrenica. On 21 April, the UNPROFOR's Force Commander reported that 170 UNPROFOR troops, civilian police and military observers had been deployed in Srebrenica to collect weapons, ammunition, mines, explosives and combat supplies and that by noon on 21 April they had successfully demilitarized the town. Srebrenica has remained calm since 18 April.

As requested in resolution 819 (1993), the Security Council's fact-finding mission, composed of representatives of France, Hungary, New Zealand, Pakistan, Russian Federation and Venezuela, visited the region from 22 to 27 April. Having considered the mission's report and recommendations, the Security Council adopted resolution 824 (1993) of 6 May, in which it declared that, in addition to Srebrenica, Sarajevo and other such threatened areas, in particular the towns of Tuzla, Zepa, Gorazde, Bihac and their surroundings, should be treated as safe areas by all the parties concerned. The Council further declared that in those areas armed attacks must cease, all Bosnian Serb military or paramilitary units must withdraw and all parties must allow UNPROFOR and the international humanitarian agencies free and unimpeded access to all safe areas. It authorized the strengthening of UNPROFOR's mandate by an additional 50 military observers to monitor the humanitarian situation in those areas.

COMPOSITION OF UNPROFOR

Currently, UNPROFOR includes military, police and civilian components comprising some 24,000 personnel.

In Croatia, the military and civilian police components of UNPROFOR comprise some 14,000 personnel, consisting of 12 infantry battalions (some 10,250 all ranks), 147 military observers, 564 civilian police monitors, and headquarters and support elements totalling some 2,500 all ranks. In addition, the implementation of Security Council resolution 802 (1993) will require two mechanized infantry battalions (1,800 all ranks), 150 support personnel and 50 additional military observers.

In Bosnia and Herzegovina, the strength of UNPROFOR is approximately 9,200 personnel, including three infantry battalions (some 1,500 all ranks) in Sarajevo, four infantry battalion groups (about 6,000 all ranks) in other parts of Bosnia and Herzegovina, 122 military observers; 12 civilian police monitors, and headquarters and support units totalling approximately 1,530 all ranks. In addition, the implementation of Security Council resolution 824 (1993) will require an additional 50 military observers.

UNPROFOR's Command in the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia includes some 750 personnel, consisting of one battalion of up to 690 all ranks, 35 military observers, and 26 civilian police monitors.

In addition, in accordance with Security Council resolution 786 (1992), monitoring of selected airfields in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) is carried out by 75 military observers.

The military and/or civilian police personnel of UNPROFOR is provided by the following countries: Argentina, Australia, Bangladesh, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Colombia, Czech Republic, Denmark, Egypt, Finland, France, Ghana, Ireland, Jordan, Kenya, Luxembourg, Nepal, Netherlands, New Zealand, Nigeria, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Russian Federation, Slovak Republic, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Tunisia, Ukraine, United Kingdom, United States and Venezuela.

The civilian component of the Force consists of staff members of the United Nations and of locally recruited employees.

FINANCIAL ASPECTS OF UNPROFOR

The Secretary-General initially estimated that the cost to the United Nations associated with the emplacement and maintenance of UNPROFOR for the first twelve-month period would be over $600 million. The costs of the operation were to be met by assessed contributions from the United Nations Member States. In March 1992, the General Assembly appropriated an initial amount of $251.5 million for the expenses of the Force. The amount appropriated was believed to be adequate until mid-October 1992, pending the Secretary-General's submission for additional requirements.

In December 1992, the General Assembly decided to appropriate to the UNPROFOR Special Account an additional amount of $10 million for the period from 12 January to 14 October 1992. The Assembly also decided to appropriate to the UNPROFOR Special Account an amount of $290 million for the operation of the Force for the period from 15 October 1992 to 21 February 1993. It also authorized the Secretary-General to enter into commitments for the operation of UNPROFOR at a rate not to exceed $47 million per month for the period from 21 February to 20 September 1993, should the Security Council decide to continue the mission beyond 20 February 1993. As at 30 April 1993, outstanding contributions to the UNPROFOR Special Account for the period ending on 30 June 1993 amounted to approximately $325 million.

As far as the protection of humanitarian convoys in Bosnia and Herzegovina is concerned, certain Member States offered to provide military personnel, equipment and logistic support for UNPROFOR at no cost to the United Nations. On the Secretary-General's recommendation, this arrangement was accepted by the Security Council in September 1992 (resolution 776 (1992)). In his 10 February 1993 report to the Council, the Secretary-General noted that at the time it seemed to be an innovative arrangement which would facilitate the early troop deployment without placing an additional financial burden on the already overstretched peace-keeping budget of the Organization. However, a number of Member States had expressed reservations that the arrangement compromised the principle that peace-keeping operations were the collective responsibility of the United Nations and that their costs were to be borne by the membership as a whole. After six months' experience, the Secretary-General added, it had also become clear that this arrangement gave rise to a number of operational and administrative difficulties. The Secretary-General recommended therefore that all activities of UNPROFOR in the former Yugoslavia be financed in the normal manner, i.e. by assessments on the peace-keeping scale levied on all Member States. The Security Council, in its resolution 807 (1993) of 19 February extending the Force's mandate for an interim period terminating on 31 March 1993, requested the Secretary-General to submit a report on the further extension of UNPROFOR's mandate, including financial estimates for all UNPROFOR's activities in the former Yugoslavia.

In his further report dated 25 March, the Secretary-General recommended the extension of UNPROFOR's mandate for a three-month interim period until 30 June 1993, and the incorporation in the United Nations budget for this period of all UNPROFOR activities. In an addendum to the report, he estimated that the additional cost associated with the deployment of UNPROFOR in Macedonia and the protection of humanitarian convoys in Bosnia and Herzegovina for the three-month period from 1 April to 30 June 1993 would amount to some $194.9 million. The total cost of maintaining UNPROFOR for the three-month period, therefore, would be $336.2 million. The Security Council, by its resolution 815 (1993) of 30 March, approved the report of the Secretary-General and decided to extend UNPROFOR's mandate for an additional interim period terminating on 30 June 1993.

II. INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

LONDON SESSION

In the meantime, diplomatic efforts to find a political solution to the conflict in the former Yugoslavia continued. On 24 July 1992, the Council invited the European Community in cooperation with the Secretary-General of the United Nations to examine the possibility of broadening and intensifying the European Community's Conference on Yugoslavia with a view to providing a new momentum in search for negotiated settlements of the various conflicts and disputes in the former Yugoslavia. The European Community then invited the Secretary-General to co-chair with the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom in his capacity as current President of the Council of Ministers of the European Community, the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, which was convened in London on 26-28 August 1992.

The Conference adopted the Statement of Principles for a negotiated settlement of the problems of the former Yugoslavia, and reached a number of other agreements. It also established, under the overall direction of the Permanent Co-Chairmen of the Conference, a Steering Committee co-chaired by the Secretary-General's Personal Envoy, Mr. Vance, and Lord Owen, who succeeded Lord Carrington as European Community mediator. They would direct Working Groups and prepare the basis for a general settlement and associated measures. They commenced work in continuous sessions at the United Nations Office at Geneva, as of 18 September 1992. The Conference has six Working Groups. It also has an Arbitration Commission and a small secretariat.

WORKING GROUPS*

The Working Group on Bosnia and Herzegovina is to promote a cessation of hostilities and a constitutional settlement in that Republic.

The Working Group on Humanitarian Issues is to promote humanitarian relief in all its aspects, including refugees.

The Working Group on Ethnic and National Communities and Minorities is to recommend initiatives for resolving ethnic questions in the former Yugoslavia. A special group on the former autonomous province of Kosovo has been set up.

The Working Group on Succession Issues is to resolve succession issues arising from the emergence of new States in the territory of the former Yugoslavia.

The Working Group on Economic Issues is to address the economic issues arising from the emergence of new States in the territory of the former Yugoslavia.

The Working Group on Confidence and Security-Building and Verification Measures is to develop confidence-building measures covering military movements, arms control and arms transfers and limitations, and measures for their monitoring and verification.

SEEKING PEACE IN BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA

Peace talks

Diplomatic efforts to bring peace to Bosnia and Herzegovina have proceeded on the basis of the principles of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, adopted at its London session in August 1992. Since September 1992, the Co-Chairmen of the Conference's Steering Committee held a series of complex and difficult talks with the parties concerned. The fundamental objectives of the talks, held within the framework of the Working Group on Bosnia and Herzegovina, have been that the conflict must be stopped and prevented from spreading, while respecting human rights and fundamental freedoms.

On 4 January 1993, during the Geneva round of talks, the Co-Chairmen put to the parties concerned — the Bosnian Government, the Bosnian Croats and the Bosnian Serbs — a comprehensive package as the basis for a fair, just and lasting peace. The package included a set of Constitutional Principles along with a map setting out the organization of the country into 10 provinces, and an agreement for peace. The Co-Chairmen explained that all three elements of the package were inextricably linked and could not be implemented separately. Mr. Mate Boban, the leader of the Bosnian Croats, accepted all three documents. The other two parties asked for further discussions on parts of the two documents and on the map proposed by the Co-Chairmen.

On 30 January, after further intense negotiations in Geneva, President Alija Izetbegovic of Bosnia and Herzegovina and Dr. Radovan Karadzic, the leader of Bosnian Serbs, as well as Mr. Boban signed the nine constitutional principles on the basis of which a new Constitution for Bosnia and Herzegovina is to be drafted. Also, the Bosnian Croats and the Bosnian Serbs signed the agreement for peace dealing with the cessation of hostilities, the restoration of infrastructure, the opening of routes, the separation of forces, the demilitarization of Sarajevo, the monitoring of borders, and the return of forces to designated provinces. The Bosnian Government stated that it would not sign the agreement for peace because it felt that the arrangements relating to the control of heavy weapons were not strong enough. As to the provincial boundaries, only Mr. Boban confirmed his acceptance of the proposed map and signed it.

The Co-Chairmen decided to hold a further round of peace talks in New York so that the good offices of the Security Council could be used in helping the three sides to overcome their outstanding difficulties. The first round of New York talks, held from 3 to 8 February 1993, did not produce concrete results. Significant progress, however, was achieved during the resumed round of the talks from 1 to 6 March; on 3 March, President Izetbegovic, after having been assured by the Force Commander of UNPROFOR that physical control of heavy weapons could be undertaken, signed the agreement for peace. The Bosnian Government and the Bosnian Serb side continued to reject the provincial map.

In addition to the three elements of the peace settlement plan, the Co-Chairmen continued their efforts at promoting an additional component — an agreement among the three Bosnian sides on arrangements for the governance of the country in the interim period between the signing of a peace settlement and the holding of elections under a new Constitution. These efforts led to the signing, on 3 March, of a provisional agreement on interim governmental arrangements between the Bosnian Government and the Bosnian Croat side. The Bosnian Serb side did not accept the document.

* For more information on the activities of each of the Working Groups, please see the report of the Secretary-General on the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia (S/25490) dated 30 March 1993.

The next round of New York talks lasted from 16 to 25 March 1993. After further intensive discussions of the working paper on interim governmental arrangements, the Bosnian Government and the Bosnian Croat side signed an agreement on 25 March. As part of that agreement, they also signed a revised map of provincial boundaries. The interim arrangements paper thus formally became the fourth element of the overall peace agreement. The Bosnian Serb side, however, declined to sign the two documents, becoming the only side lagging behind in signature of all four documents.

On 25 March, the Security Council, in a statement by its President, welcomed the signing by President Izetbegovic and Mr. Boban of all four documents of the peace plan. It called on the remaining party to sign without delay the two documents it had not yet endorsed, and to cease its violence, offensive military actions, "ethnic cleansing" and obstruction of humanitarian assistance. The Council stated its readiness to take the steps required to bring about the peace settlement.

The Secretary-General, in his report to the Security Council dated 26 March, stated that the Co-Chairmen's peace package provided the only mechanism available for the re-establishment of peace, with justice and respect for human rights, in Bosnia and Herzegovina. He urged the Council to approve the entire peace package and to call upon the Bosnian Serbs to sign the remaining two documents so that attention may be concentrated on the implementation of the plan. The Secretary-General recommended the early establishment of an International Human Rights Monitoring Mission, which all three parties had expressly accepted. He pointed out that, in accordance with the recommendation of the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, discussions continued towards an implementation peace-keeping plan that could be endorsed by the Security Council, when all three sides have signed the whole package. The Co-Chairmen also recommended the establishment of a Boundary Commission in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Sanctions regime strengthened

On 17 April, the Security Council adopted its resolution 820 (1993), by which it commended the peace plan for Bosnia and Herzegovina and welcomed the fact that the plan had been accepted in full by two of the Bosnian parties. The Council expressed grave concern at the refusal so far of the Bosnian Serb party to accept the Agreement on Interim Arrangements and the provisional provincial map, and called on that party to accept the peace plan in full.

The Council decided to strengthen the sanctions regime imposed against the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro), effective nine days after the date of adoption of the resolution, unless the Bosnian Serb party sign the peace plan and cease their military attacks in Bosnia and Herzegovina. The stronger sanctions would prevent diversion to that country of commodities and products, by land and sea, and freeze all its funds held in other Member States.

The further sanctions against the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) include: preventing the diversion to it of commodities and products said to be destined for other places; authorization by the Sanctions Committee for the transshipment of commodities and products through that country on the Danube; forbidding any vessels registered in that country, owned by it, operated by it or suspected violating Council resolutions, to pass through installations within the territory of Member States; authorizing Member States to freeze any funds in their territory belonging to that country, to ensure that they were not made available for the benefit of the Yugoslav authorities.

The Security Council expressed its readiness, after all three Bosnian parties have accepted the peace plan and on the basis of verified evidence, provided by the Secretary-General, that the Bosnian Serb party was cooperating in good faith in effectively implementing it, to review all the measures in that and other relevant resolutions with a view to gradually lifting them.

Despite the efforts of the Co-Chairmen of the International Conference's Steering Committee and, in particular, the intensive round of talks conducted by Lord Owen from 21 to 25 April, the Bosnian Serb side continued to reject the peace plan. The deadline established by Security Council resolution 820 (1993) passed and the new sanctions regime against the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) came into force at midnight on 26 April 1993.

Preparations for implementation of peace plan

In its resolution 820 (1993) of 17 April 1993 referred to above, the Security Council requested the Secretary-General to report on the preparations under way for the implementation of the peace plan once it has been accepted by all the parties.

The peace plan includes a wide range of measures requiring the deployment of additional peace-keeping troops in Bosnia and Herzegovina. These measures include the cessation of hostilities throughout Bosnia and Herzegovina, the restoration of infrastructure, the opening of routes, the separation of forces, the demilitarization of Sarajevo, the monitoring of the borders of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and the return of forces to designated provinces.

In his report, dated 26 April, the Secretary-General pointed out that the multitude of tasks envisaged in the peace plan would exceed the planning capability of the United Nations Secretariat and that of UNPROFOR. Therefore, consultations were initiated with NATO which indicated that it would consider a formal request to undertake detailed planning for the implementation of the plan and making available a core headquarters structure into which other potential troop contributors could be incorporated. On the basis of preliminary studies, NATO experts estimated that some 60,000 to 75,000 troops would be required for the implementation of the various military tasks envisaged in the peace plan.

The Secretary-General indicated that the implementation of the plan would involve a United Nations operation conducted under the authority of the Security Council and financed collectively by United Nations Member States under the peace-keeping scale of assessments. The United Nations would have overall political and strategic control which would be exercised by the Secretary-General under the authority of the Security Council.

As to the principal civilian tasks of the peace plan, they include the restoration of law, order and civil authority throughout Bosnia and Herzegovina in conformity with the nine constitutional principles; the preparation of a constitution in accordance with the nine principles; the resolution of problems concerning provincial borders, and related political issues; the preparation of internationally supervised, free and fair elections to be held for the central government as well as the provincial governments; the provision of arrangements for the highest level of internationally recognized human rights through domestic and international mechanisms; the reversal of "ethnic cleansing" and the establishment of conditions in which those refugees and displaced persons who wish to return to their homes may do so; the provision of humanitarian aid and appropriate levels of relief and rehabilitation assistance.

Bosnian Serb "Assembly" rejects peace plan

On 29 April 1993, the Co-Chairmen of the International Conference's Steering Committee, Mr. Vance and Lord Owen, together with Co-Chairman-designate, Mr. Thorvald Stoltenberg,* convened a further meeting of the three parties to the conflict in Bosnia and Herzegovina. The meeting, which took place from 1 to 2 May in Athens, Greece, was called in response to the announced decision by the Bosnian Serbs to convene their "Assembly" on 5 May to reconsider its previous decision against signing the peace plan. In addition to President Izetbegovic, Mr. Boban and Dr. Karadzic, it was attended by President Franjo Tudjman of Croatia, President Dobrica Cosic of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro), President Slobodan Milosevic of Serbia and President Momir Bulatovic of Montenegro.

The two-day meeting resulted in Dr. Karadzic's signing, on 2 May, of the remaining two documents of the peace plan — the map of provisional provincial boundaries and the agreement on interim arrangements. He indicated, however, that the documents would have to be approved by the Bosnian Serb "Assembly".

The peace process suffered a setback when, on 5 May, notwithstanding Dr. Karadzic's signature and the strong pressure from the international community and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro), the Bosnian Serb "Assembly" again rejected the peace plan and instead voted to hold a referendum on the subject.

The following day, the Secretary-General issued a statement expressing his feeling that the last word had not been spoken by the Bosnian Serbs. He believed that there would be more negotiations, and that efforts would continue to overcome the current difficulties to obtaining agreement on the peace plan. On 7 May, the Security Council also reaffirmed its position that the Vance-Owen peace plan is the basis for a peaceful solution to the conflict in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and that the Bosnian Serbs must return to it. It expressed the conviction that preparatory work for implementation of the plan by the Secretary-General and others should continue actively.

*On 1 April 1993, Mr. Cyrus Vance announced that he would resign as the Secretary-General's Personal Envoy and Co-Chairman of the Steering Committee. On 2 April, the Secretary-General appointed Mr. Thorvald Stoltenberg, Foreign Minister of Norway, to succeed Mr. Vance, effective 1 May 1993.

III. HUMANITARIAN ISSUES

HUMANITARIAN RELIEF

The United Nations has been providing humanitarian relief assistance to the refugees and displaced persons since the beginning of the conflict in the former Yugoslavia. The United Nations relief effort is coordinated by UNHCR which was designated a lead humanitarian agency for the former Yugoslavia in November 1991. In December 1991, it was estimated that there were approximately 500,000 refugees, displaced persons and other victims of the conflict requiring assistance and protection. As the conflict intensified, the humanitarian problems increased dramatically with widespread violations of basic human rights and international humanitarian law. Under such difficult circumstances, UNHCR, the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the World Health Organization (WHO), the World Food Programme (WFP), other United Nations agencies concerned, ICRC as well as many non-governmental organizations (NGOs) have continued their work.

The international community responded generously to two appeals launched, in December 1991 and May 1992, by UNHCR also on behalf of UNICEF and WHO. However, in view of the continued and alarming deterioration of the humanitarian situation, particularly in Bosnia and Herzegovina, it became evident that further assistance was required. Consequently, the International Meeting on Humanitarian Aid to the Victims of Conflict in the Former Yugoslavia, held on 29 July 1992 in Geneva, endorsed a seven-point humanitarian response plan proposed by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, Mrs. Sadako Ogata. The elements of the plan are: respect for human rights and humanitarian law, preventive protection, humanitarian access to those in need, measures to meet special humanitarian needs, temporary protection measures, material assistance, and return and rehabilitation.

Following the International Meeting and a subsequent related meeting of the Inter-Agency Standing Committee, an Inter-Agency Assessment Mission, coordinated by UNHCR with the assistance of the United Nations Department of Humanitarian Affairs, visited the Republics of the former Yugoslavia from 9 to 16 August 1992, to reassess the emergency humanitarian requirements. According to the findings of the Mission, over 2.7 million people were directly affected by the crisis and were in need of emergency humanitarian assistance — particularly in the areas of food, shelter and health care. On the basis of those findings, the Department of Humanitarian Affairs, in close collaboration with UNHCR, other concerned United Nations agencies and NGOs, formulated a Consolidated Inter-Agency Programme of Action and Appeal for the period September 1992 to March 1993. The overall requirements identified by the Assessment Mission amounted to over $1 billion. Subsequently, it was established that $434 million would be required for addressing life-threatening priority needs to be channelled through the United Nations system. The areas targeted for immediate relief were food, health services and shelter.

The Appeal by the Secretary-General was launched on 4 September 1992, simultaneously, through the Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs, Mr. Jan Eliasson, in New York, and through the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, Mrs. Ogata, in Geneva. The Secretary-General said in the Appeal that one "particularly unconscionable" aspect of the conflict in the former Yugoslavia was the deliberate attempt to prevent much needed relief assistance from reaching the affected population.

Since the launching of the Programme of Action and Appeal, the number of affected persons in need of humanitarian assistance has increased significantly. On 11 March 1993, Mrs. Ogata reported to the Security Council that 3.8 million people were receiving assistance in the whole of the former Yugoslavia. In Bosnia and Herzegovina alone, some 2.28 million people, or half of the original population, were beneficiaries of humanitarian assistance from UNHCR, and the situation there was still deteriorating. Mrs. Ogata told Council members that UNHCR's biggest concern remained gaining humanitarian access to the victims, especially to those in the Government-held enclaves in eastern Bosnia and Herzegovina where access had in many instances been denied altogether. She said the enormous suffering and devastation in the former Yugoslavia underscored the critical importance of an immediate cessation of hostilities.

On 17 March 1993, the United Nations issued a revised Consolidated Inter-Agency Appeal for the period from 1 April to 31 December 1993. The Appeal calls for $840 million as new funding requirements in addition to the nearly $496 million already spent or committed by seven United Nations and associated agencies in the former Yugoslavia since the beginning of the emergency operation in November 1991.

On 25 March 1993, Mrs. Ogata, in her capacity as the Chairwoman of the Working Group on Humanitarian Issues of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, convened a high-level intergovernmental meeting in Geneva to discuss needs in the war-torn region. More than 55 nations and international organizations participated in the meeting.

"ETHNIC CLEANSING" AND OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS

Throughout the conflict, there have been massive and systematic violations of human rights, as well as serious grave violations of humanitarian law in most of the territory of the former Yugoslavia, in particular in Bosnia and Herzegovina. "Ethnic cleansing" — the elimination, by the ethnic group exercising control over a given territory, of members of other ethnic groups — is believed to be the direct cause of the vast majority of human rights violations. The practice of "ethnic cleansing" involves a variety of methods, including harassment, discrimination, beatings, torture, rape, summary executions, expulsions, shelling of civilian population centres, relocation of populations by force, confiscation of property, destruction of homes and places of worship and cultural institutions.

In a series of resolutions and Presidential statements, the Security Council has condemned the practice of "ethnic cleansing" and other violations of human rights and international humanitarian law. On 13 July 1992, the Security Council, in its resolution 764 (1992), reaffirmed that all parties were bound to comply with the obligations under international humanitarian law and in particular the Geneva Conventions of 12 August 1949 for the protection of war victims, and that persons who commit or order the commission of grave breaches of the Conventions were individually responsible in respect of such breaches.

On 4 August 1992, concerned at the continuing reports of widespread violations of international humanitarian law and, in particular, reports of the imprisonment and abuse of civilians in camps, prisons and detention centres within the territory of the former Yugoslavia and especially in Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Council, in a Presidential statement, condemned any such violations and abuses. It also demanded that relevant international organizations, and in particular ICRC, be granted immediate, unimpeded and continued access to all such places and called upon all parties to do all in their power to facilitate such access.

On 13 August, by resolution 771 (1992), the Security Council reaffirmed that all parties to the conflict were bound to comply with their obligations under international humanitarian law, and strongly condemned violations, including "ethnic cleansing". With this, the Council again demanded that relevant international humanitarian organizations, in particular ICRC, be granted immediate, unimpeded and continued access to all camps, prisons and detention centres within the territory of the former Yugoslavia. It further called on States and international humanitarian organizations to collate substantiated information relating to violations of international humanitarian law, and requested the Secretary-General to submit such information to the Council with recommendations on an appropriate follow-up response. Acting under Chapter VII of the Charter, the Council decided that all parties and others concerned in the former Yugoslavia shall comply with the provisions of the resolution 771 (1992).

GENERAL ASSEMBLY ACTS

On 25 August 1992, the General Assembly, in its resolution 46/242, condemned the massive violations of human rights and international humanitarian law, in particular the abhorrent practice of "ethnic cleansing", and demanded that that practice be brought to an end immediately. It called for further steps to stop the massive and forcible displacement of population from and within Bosnia and Herzegovina, as well as all other forms of violation of human rights in the former Yugoslavia. The Assembly affirmed the accountability of States for human rights violations committed by their agents upon the territory of another State and called upon all States and international organizations not to recognize the consequence of the acquisition of territory by force and of "ethnic cleansing". The Assembly also demanded the safe, unconditional and honourable repatriation of the refugees and deportees to their homes in Bosnia and Herzegovina and recognized their right to receive reparation for their losses.

On 18 December 1992, the General Assembly adopted two more resolutions — one dealing with the situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina (47/121), and the other on the situation of human rights in the territory of the former Yugoslavia (47/147).

SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR APPOINTED BY THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS

In a separate development, on 13-14 August 1992, the United Nations Commission on Human Rights* convened a special session — the first ever in its history — on the human rights situation in the former Yugoslavia. The Commission, in its resolution 1992/S-1/1, condemned "ethnic cleansing" and human rights violations, especially in Bosnia and Herzegovina. It asked that its Chairman appoint a Special Rapporteur to investigate firsthand the human rights situation in the former Yugoslavia, in particular within Bosnia and Herzegovina, to make recommendations for ending human rights violations as well as for preven · future occurrences, and to gather systematically i: ·tion on possible human rights violations which r- ·sti- tute war crimes. Subsequently, Mr. usz Mazowiecki, former Prime Minister of Polar.. ·as appointed as Special Rapporteur.

Since then, Mr. Mazowiecki conducted several missions to the former Yugoslavia and submitted regular reports to the Commission, which were also made available to the General Assembly and the Security Council. The Special Rapporteur concluded, in his first report of 28 August 1992 and reconfirmed in his second report of 27 October 1992, the following: "Human rights violations are being perpetrated by all parties to the conflicts. There are also victims on all sides. However, the situation of the Muslim population is particularly tragic: they feel that they are threatened with extermination."

The Special Rapporteur's second and third reports were considered at the second special session of the Commission on Human Rights on 30 November - 1 December 1992. The second report concentrated primarily on Bosnia and Herzegovina, especially on the practice of "ethnic cleansing", and also gave attention to the human rights situations in Croatia and Serbia. The third report indicated that "ethnic cleansing" not only continued, but in some regions intensified, with the primary responsibility falling on the Serbian authorities in de facto control of certain territories in Bosnia and Herzegovina and in the UNPAs in Croatia. The command of the JNA and the political leadership of the Republic of Serbia were also identified as sharing responsibility. According to this report, Albanians, Croats, Hungarians, Muslims and other minority groups were discriminated against in Kosovo, Vojvodina and Sandzak (Muslim denomination of a region located partly in Serbia and partly in Montenegro). At the same time, discrimination and serious violations of the human rights of Serbs also occurred in territories controlled by the Government of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and to a somewhat greater extent in territory under the control of Bosnian Croats. Discrimination and other human rights abuses also occurred in Croatia, in particular against Serbs.

On 30 November 1992, the Commission adopted resolution 1992/S-2/1, in which it condemned again all human rights violations and "ethnic cleansing" in the territory of the former Yugoslavia and called upon all States to consider whether the acts committed in Bosnia and Herzegovina and in Croatia constituted genocide. On 18 December, the General Assembly, in its resolution 47/147 referred to above, commended the Special Rapporteur for his reports and urged all States and organizations to consider implementing the recommendations contained in those reports.

In his report to the 49th session of the Commission on Human Rights, which was submitted through the Secretary-General to the General Assembly and the Security Council on 10 February 1993, the Special Rapporteur described the human rights situation in the territory of the former Yugoslavia (Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, Macedonia, Montenegro, Serbia and Slovenia). The Special Rapporteur stated that evidence was mounting of war crimes during the conflicts in both Croatia and in Bosnia and Herzegovina. Numerous cases had been documented of summary executions and death threats, disappearances, torture and ill-treatment of detainees and destruction of property including religious sites. Rape of women was widespread in both conflicts. There were victims among all ethnic groups and there were rapists among the armed forces of all parties. In addition, the Special Rapporteur sent a team of medical experts to the area to investigate reports of widespread occurrence of rape. According to the experts' report, the majority of the rapes that they have documented had been committed by ethnic Serb forces against Muslim women from Bosnia and Herzegovina.

On 23 February, the Commission adopted two resolutions. Resolution 1993/7, inter alia, requested the Secretary-General to provide for the appointment of human rights field officers in the former Yugoslavia. By resolution 1993/8 the Commission condemned the abhorrent practice of rape and abuse of women and children in the territory of the former Yugoslavia which was being used as an instru ·nt of "ethnic cleansing"

*The Commission on Human Rights was established in 1946 as the principal United Nations body entrusted with the worldwide promotion and protection of human rights. It meets every year for six weeks.

In a follow up to the recommendations made by the Special Rapporteur, subsequently reflected in Commission on Human Rights resolutions 1992/S-2/1 of 30 November 1992 and 1993/7 of 23 February 1993, human rights field officers are now being deployed in the territory of the former Yugoslavia.

RELEASE OF PRISONERS AND DETAINEES

The international community has continued its efforts to facilitate the release of prisoners and detainees within the territory of the former Yugoslavia, in particular in Bosnia and Herzegovina. It is widely believed that only a very small percentage of detainees are genuine prisoners of war, with most prisoners being innocent civilians.

After ICRC visited camps and detention centres in August 1992, the three Bosnian sides agreed on 27 August on the release of all civilians who had been illegally detained and on the evacuation of the sick and wounded from the camps. On 1 October, the parties signed, under ICRC auspices, an Agreement on the Release and Transfer of Prisoners, thereby committing themselves to liberate all detainees including the small percentage of combatants detained — except those who were accused of committing grave breaches of international humanitarian law — in accordance with plans of release to be prepared by ICRC. That Agreement, which was to be implemented by 31 October 1992, was based on the Programme of Action on Humanitarian Issues drawn up at the London session of the International Conference on the former Yugoslavia.

From July until the end of December 1992, ICRC registered approximately 10,800 detainees in more than 50 known places of detention in Bosnia and Herzegovina. During that period, a total of 5,534 prisoners were released under ICRC auspices and transferred to safe areas. In addition, some 2,500 persons are believed to have been released or exchanged without an ICRC presence. ICRC estimates that there are still a considerable number of prisoners, mostly civilians, who have not been visited or registered. According to ICRC, the Agreement of 1 October has not been implemented because the three sides did not fully respect their obligations under the Agreement, and also because of difficulties in finding third countries willing to accept the prisoners wishing to be transferred temporarily to neighbouring countries.

COMMISSION OF EXPERTS

On 6 October 1992, the Security Council adopted resolution 780 (1992) expressing its grave alarm at the continuing reports of widespread violations of international humanitarian law in the territory of the former Yugoslavia.

The Council requested the Secretary-General to establish an impartial Commission of Experts to examine and analyse the information submitted pursuant to resolution 771 (1992) and the present resolution, together with such information as the Commission may obtain through its own investigations or efforts, with a view to providing the Secretary-General with its conclusions on the evidence of grave breaches of the 1949 Geneva Conventions and other violations of humanitarian law committed in the territory of the former Yugoslavia.

In a report dated 14 October 1992 to the Security Council, the Secretary-General announced his decision to establish a Commission of Experts. On 23 October, the Secretary-General informed the Council that he had appointed the following five persons as the members of the Commission: Professor Fritz Kalshoven of the Netherlands (Chairman), Professor Cherif Bassiouni of Egypt, Mr. William Fenrick of Canada, Judge Keba Mbaye of Senegal, and Professor Torkel Opsahl of Norway.

The Commission commenced its work early in November 1992. Since then, it has carried out four main tasks: the examination and analysis of information obtained from various sources, identification of cases warranting in-depth investigation, verification of facts and consideration of issues of law. Following its third session in Geneva on 25 and 26 January 1993, the Commission transmitted to the Secretary-General, in February, its first interim report, together with a number of ancillary documents, including a report of a preliminary site exploration of a mass grave near Vukovar in Croatia.

At its fourth session held in Geneva from 1 to 3 March, the Commission decided to send a reconnaissance mission to facilitate the investigation into mass killings in the Vukovar area. The team is also authorized to visit other sites if deemed necessary.

From 18 to 29 April 1993, a delegation of the Commission visited Belgrade, Ljubljana, Sarajevo and Zagreb, and conducted talks with senior officials in those capitals. The purpose of the mission was to obtain the cooperation of those involved with war crime documentation or investigation in the respective countries.

The Secretary-General established the Trust Fund to support the activities of the Commission in carrying out its mandate. The Fund is open to all voluntary financial contributions from States, intergovernmental organizations, national institutions and non-governmental organizations as well as natural and juridical persons.

REPORTS OF MASSIVE RAPE

On 18 December 1992, appalled by reports of the massive, organized and systematic detention and rape of women, in particular Muslim women, in Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Security Council, by its resolution 798 (1992), strongly condemned these acts of unspeakable brutality, expressed support for the initiative of the European Community to dispatch a delegation to investigate the situation, and requested the Secretary-General to provide all necessary support to enable the delegation to have free and secure access to the places of detention.

The investigative mission made two visits to the former Yugoslavia, from 18 to 24 December 1992, and from 19 to 26 January 1993. Its final report was circulated as a document of the Security Council on 3 February 1993.

INTERNATIONAL TRIBUNAL

On 22 February 1993, the Security Council adopted its resolution 808 (1993), by which it decided that an international tribunal shall be established for the prosecution of persons responsible for serious violations of international humanitarian law committed in the territory of the former Yugoslavia since 1991. It requested the Secretary-General to submit for consideration by the Council at the earliest possible date a report on all aspects of this matter.

In adopting resolution 808 (1993), the Security Council took into account the February 1993 interim report of the Commission of Experts, in which the Commission had observed that a decision to establish such an ad hoc tribunal would be consistent with the direction of its work. The Council noted the recommendation by the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia for the establishment of such a tribunal. It also took note of the "Report of the European Community investigative mission into the treatment of Muslim women in the former Yugoslavia", as well as the report of jurists submitted by France, the report of the commission of jurists submitted by Italy, and the report transmitted by the Permanent Representative of Sweden on behalf of the Chairman-in-Office of CSCE.

On 3 May, the Secretary-General submitted to the Council a detailed report covering such issues as the legal basis for the establishment of the International Tribunal, its competence and organization, investigation and pre-trial proceedings, trial and post-trial proceedings, cooperation and judicial assistance, and general provisions. The Statute of the Tribunal was annexed to the report.

DECISION BY THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE

On 8 April 1993, the International Court of Justice issued an Order of provisional measures, in which it called upon the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) to "immediately...take all measures within its power to prevent commission of the crime of genocide." The Court stated that the Government of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) "should in particular ensure that any military, paramilitary or irregular armed units which may be directed or supported by it, as well as any organizations and persons which may be subject to its control, direction or influence, do not commit any acts of genocide, of conspiracy to commit genocide, of direct and public incitement to commit genocide, or of complicity in genocide, whether directed against the Muslim population of Bosnia and Herzegovina or against any other national, ethnical, racial or religious group."

The Court also held that neither party should aggravate or extend the existing dispute over the prevention or punishment of the crime of genocide, or render it more difficult of solution.

The Court issued these provisional measures in response to a suit initiated by the Government of Bosnia and Herzegovina on 20 March 1993. The Court found that it had prima facie jurisdiction to issue its Order under the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide concluded by the United Nations in 1948, to which the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) and Bosnia and Herzegovina are parties. The Convention describes as genocide acts "committed with the intent to destroy, in whole or in part, a national, ethnical, racial or religious group".

While the Court acted speedily to issue its provisional measures, a judgement on the merits of the case will be handed down only after the parties fully brief and argue it. The Court's Order emphasized that the facts and law of the dispute meanwhile remain unsettled. Under its Statute, the Court has the power to indicate provisional measures for preserving the rights of either party, pending judgement on the merits of the case. The Court noted that it was not able to indicate measures for the protection of any disputed rights which fall outside the scope of the Genocide Convention.

IV. MEMBERSHIP IN THE UNITED NATIONS

The former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia was an original Member of the United Nations. On 22 May 1992, following the Security Council's recommendations, the General Assembly, by its resolutions 46/236, 46/237 and 46/238, decided to admit the Republic of Slovenia, the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and the Republic of Croatia — three former Yugoslav Republics — to membership in the United Nations.

On 19 September 1992, the Security Council, by its resolution 777 (1992), considered that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) could not continue automatically the membership of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia in the United Nations. The Council recommended to the General Assembly that it decide that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) should apply for membership in the United Nations and that it shall not participate in the work of the General Assembly. The Council also decided to consider the matter again before the end of the main part of the forty-seventh session of the General Assembly. On 22 September, the General Assembly, by its resolution 47/1, agreed with the Council's recommendation. On 29 April 1993, the General Assembly, on the recommendation by the Security Council (resolution 821 (1993) of 28 April), further decided that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) shall not participate in the work of the Economic and Social Council.

As to "the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia", the Security Council, on 7 April 1993, recommended that the General Assembly admit that State to United Nations membership. In adopting its resolution 817 (1993), the Council, after having noted that the difference which had arisen over the name of that State needed to be resolved in the interests of maintaining peaceful relations in the region, welcomed the readiness of the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia to use their good offices to settle the matter and promote confidence-building measures among the parties. On 8 April, the General Assembly decided to admit to membership in the United Nations the "State being provisionally referred to for all purposes within the United Nations as 'the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia' pending settlement of the difference that has arisen over the name of the State".

RESOLUTIONS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL AND STATEMENTS BY ITS PRESIDENT RELATING TO THE SITUATION IN THE FORMER YUGOSLAVIA (25 September 1991 - 7 May 1993)

THE SECURITY COUNCIL

Under the United Nations Charter, the Security Council has the primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security. All United Nations Member States have agreed to accept and carry out the Council's decisions in accordance with the Charter. The Council is composed of 15 members. Five are permanent: China, France, the Russian Federation,* the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and the United States of America. The 10 non-permanent members are elected by the General Assembly to serve two-year terms. In 1991, the non-permanent members of the Security Council were Austria, Belgium, Côte d'Ivoire, Cuba, Ecuador, India, Romania, Yemen, Zaire and Zimbabwe. In 1992, the non-permanent members of the Council were Austria, Belgium, Cape Verde, Ecuador, Hungary, India, Japan, Morocco, Venezuela and Zimbabwe. In 1993, the non-permanent members of the Council are Brazil, Cape Verde, Djibouti, Hungary, Japan, Morocco, New Zealand, Pakistan, Spain and Venezuela.

Each member of the Security Council has one vote. Decisions on substantive matters require nine affirmative votes including the concurring votes of all five permanent members. The permanent members may abstain or not participate at all in the voting, and still satisfy the stipulation of their concurrence in the affirmative vote. A negative vote by any permanent member means the rejection of the draft resolution or proposal.

Between 25 September 1991 and 7 May 1993, the Security Council adopted 39 resolutions and a series of statements by the President of the Council directly relating to the situation in the former Yugoslavia. A short summary and the full text of those resolutions and statements is reproduced on the following pages.

*The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics was an original Member of the United Nations from 24 October 1945. In a letter dated 24 December 1991, the President of the Russian Federation informed the Secretary-General that the membership of the former Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in the Security Council and all other United Nations organs was being continued by the Russian Federation with the support of the 11 member countries of the Commonwealth of Independent States.

1. Approves the report of the Secretary-General of 11 December 1991 (S/23280) and expresses its appreciation to the Secretary-General for it;

2. Endorses in particular the views expressed in paragraph 21 of the Secretary-General's report that the conditions for establishing a peace-keeping operation in Yugoslavia still do not exist and in paragraph 24 that full compliance with the Geneva Agreement of 23 November 1991 would permit accelerated consideration of the question of establishing a United Nations peace-keeping operation in Yugoslavia;

3. Concurs in particular with the Secretary-General's observation that the international community is prepared to assist the Yugoslav peoples, if the conditions described in his report are met and, in that context, endorses his offer to send to Yugoslavia a small group of personnel, including military personnel, as part of the continuing mission of his Personal Envoy, to carry forward preparations for possible deployment of a peace-keeping operation;

4. Underlines the view that the purpose of the deployment of any United Nations peace-keeping operation in Yugoslavia would be to enable all parties to settle their disputes peacefully, including through the processes of the Conference on Yugoslavia;

5. Acting under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations:

6. Undertakes to consider ways by which compliance with the commitments entered into by the parties may be achieved;

7. Strongly urges all States and parties to refrain from any action which might contribute to increasing tension, to inhibiting the establishment of an effective cease-fire and to impeding or delaying a peaceful and negotiated outcome to the conflict in Yugoslavia, which would permit all the peoples of Yugoslavia to decide upon and to construct their future in peace;

8. Encourages the Secretary-General to pursue his humanitarian efforts in Yugoslavia, in liaison with the International Committee of the Red Cross, the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, UNICEF and other appropriate humanitarian organizations, to take urgent practical steps to tackle the critical needs of the people of Yugoslavia, including displaced persons and the most vulnerable groups affected by the conflict, to assist in the voluntary return of displaced persons to their homes;

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
7 January 1992

Following consultations of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the members of the Council, at its 3027th meeting on 7 January 1992, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "Oral report of the Secretary-General pursuant to his report of 5 January 1992 (S/23363)":

The Members of the Security Council discussed on 7 January the tragic incident that occurred in Yugoslavia earlier in the day, in which helicopters of the European Community Monitoring Mission in Yugoslavia were shot down by a Yugoslav aircraft, killing four Italian members and one French member of the Monitoring Mission.

The Members of the Council condemned this callous attack on unarmed civilian personnel. They extended their most sincere condolences to the families of those who had lost their lives. They noted that the Yugoslav authorities had accepted responsibility for this flagrant breach of the cease-fire, had said that they would take the necessary disciplinary action against those responsible, and had reiterated their commitment to observe the cease-fire fully. The Members of the Council called on the Yugoslav authorities to take all steps necessary to ensure that this act does not go unpunished and that such incidents do not occur again.

The Members of the Council reiterated their urgent call on all parties to the conflict in Yugoslavia to respect their cease-fire commitments. They underlined the continuing importance of the role played by the EC Monitoring Mission, as emphasized in the Secretary-General's report of 5 January (S/23363). They expressed their deep appreciation for the work done by members of the Mission and they called on the Yugoslav parties to ensure that members of the Mission and UN personnel be allowed to fulfil their role with the full cooperation of all sides.

Noting in particular that the Secretary-General considers that the conditions permitting the early deployment of a United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR) are met and welcoming his recommendation that this Force should be established with immediate effect,

Expressing its gratitude to the Secretary-General and his Personal Envoy for their contribution to the achievement of conditions facilitating the deployment of a United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR) and their continuing commitment to this effort,

Concerned that the situation in Yugoslavia continues to constitute a threat to international peace and security as determined in resolution 713 (1991),

Recalling its primary responsibility under the Charter of the United Nations for the maintenance of international peace and security,

Recalling also the provisions of Article 25 and Chapter VIII of the Charter of the United Nations,

5. Recalls that, in accordance with paragraph 1 of the United Nations peace-keeping plan, the Force should be an interim arrangement to create the conditions of peace and security required for the negotiation of an overall settlement of the Yugoslav crisis;

6. Invites accordingly the Secretary-General to report as appropriate and not less than every six months on progress towards a peaceful political settlement and the situation on the ground, and to submit a first report on the establishment of the Force within two months of the adoption of this resolution;

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
10 April 1992

Following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3068th meeting, on 10 April 1992, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "Report of the Secretary-General pursuant to Security Council resolution 743 (1992) (S/23777)":

The Security Council, alarmed by reports on rapid deterioration of the situation in Bosnia-Herzegovina, reiterates the appeal in Security Council resolution 749 (1992) to all parties and others concerned in Bosnia-Herzegovina to stop the fighting immediately. It invites the Secretary-General to dispatch urgently to the area his Personal Envoy to act in close cooperation with representatives of the European Community whose current efforts are aimed at stopping the fighting and at bringing about a peaceful solution to the crisis, and to report to the Council.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
24 April 1992

Following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3070th meeting, on 24 April 1992, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled:

"Letter dated 23 April 1992 from the Chargé d'affaires a.i. of the Permanent Mission of Austria to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/23833)

"Letter dated 24 April 1992 from the Permanent Representative of France to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/23838)".

In advance of its consideration of the report of the Secretary-General pursuant to Security Council resolution 749 (1992) (S/23836) the Security Council has had an exchange of views in the course of which various proposals were made with regard to the situation in Bosnia-Herzegovina.

The Security Council notes with deep concern the rapid and violent deterioration of the situation in Bosnia-Herzegovina, which in addition to causing an increasing number of deaths of many innocent victims further risks compromising peace and security in the region.

It welcomes the recent efforts of the European Community and the Secretary-General aimed at prevailing upon the parties to respect fully the cease-fire signed on 12 April 1992 under the auspices of the European Community. It notes with satisfaction the decision of the Secretary-General to accelerate the deployment in Bosnia-Herzegovina of the 100 military observers from UNPROFOR, 41 to be deployed in the Mostar region immediately. The presence of these military observers, like that of the monitors of the European Community, should help the parties to implement their commitment, undertaken on 23 April 1992, to respect the cease-fire. The Council welcomes the support given by the CSCE to the efforts of the European Community and the United Nations.

The Council demands that all forms of interference from outside Bosnia-Herzegovina cease immediately. In this respect, it specifically calls upon Bosnia-Herzegovina's neighbours to exercise all their influence to end such interference. The Council condemns publicly and unreservedly the use of force, and calls upon all regular or irregular military forces to act in accordance with these principles. It emphasizes the value of close and continuous coordination between the Secretary-General and the European Community in order to obtain the necessary commitments from all parties and others concerned.

The Council urges all the parties to respect immediately and fully the cease-fire, and condemns all breaches of the cease-fire from whatever quarter.

The Council supports the efforts undertaken by the European Community in the framework of the discussions on constitutional arrangements for Bosnia-Herzegovina under the auspices of the Conference on Yugoslavia. It urges the three communities in Bosnia-Herzegovina to participate actively and constructively in these talks and to conclude and implement the constitutional arrangements being developed at the tripartite talks.

The Council calls upon all parties and others concerned to facilitate humanitarian assistance and cooperate so that deliveries of humanitarian assistance reach their destination.

The Council has decided to remain actively seized of the matter, and to continue its consideration of the further contribution that the Security Council can make to the restoration of peace and security in Bosnia-Herzegovina.

The Security Council,

Reaffirming its resolutions 713 (1991) of 25 September 1991, 721 (1991) of 27 November 1991, 724 (1991) of 15 December 1991, 727 (1992) of 8 January 1992, 740 (1992) of 7 February 1992, 743 (1992) of 21 February 1992, 749 (1992) of 7 April 1992 and 752 (1992) of 15 May 1992,

Noting that in the very complex context of events in the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia all parties bear some responsibility for the situation,

Reaffirming its support for the Conference on Yugoslavia, including the efforts undertaken by the European Community in the framework of the discussions on constitutional arrangements for Bosnia and Herzegovina, and recalling that no territorial gains or changes brought about by violence are acceptable and that the borders of Bosnia and Herzegovina are inviolable,

Deploring the fact that the demands in resolution 752 (1992) have not been complied with, including its demands:

- that all parties and others concerned in Bosnia and Herzegovina stop the fighting immediately,
- that all forms of interference from outside Bosnia and Herzegovina cease immediately,
- that Bosnia and Herzegovina's neighbours take swift action to end all interference and respect the territorial integrity of Bosnia and Herzegovina,
- that action be taken as regards units of the Yugoslav People's Army (JNA) in Bosnia and Herzegovina, including the disbanding and disarming with weapons placed under effective international monitoring of any units that are neither withdrawn nor placed under the authority of the Government of Bosnia and Herzegovina,
- that all irregular forces in Bosnia and Herzegovina be disbanded and disarmed,

Deploring further that its call for the immediate cessation of forcible expulsions and attempts to change the ethnic composition of the population has not been heeded, and reaffirming in this context the need for the effective protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms, including those of ethnic minorities,

Dismayed that conditions have not yet been established for the effective and unhindered delivery of humanitarian assistance, including safe and secure access to and from Sarajevo and other airports in Bosnia and Herzegovina,

Deeply concerned that those United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR) personnel remaining in Sarajevo have been subjected to deliberate mortar and small-arms fire, and that the United Nations military observers deployed in the Mostar region have had to be withdrawn,

Deeply concerned also at developments in Croatia, including persistent cease-fire violations and the continued expulsion of non-Serb civilians, and at the obstruction of and lack of cooperation with UNPROFOR in other parts of Croatia,

Deploring the tragic incident on 18 May 1992 which caused the death of a member of the ICRC team in Bosnia and Herzegovina,

Noting that the claim by the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) to continue automatically the membership of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia in the United Nations has not been generally accepted,

Expressing its appreciation for the report of the Secretary-General of 26 May 1992 (S/24000) pursuant to resolution 752 (1992),

Recalling its primary responsibility under the Charter of the United Nations for the maintenance of international peace and security,

Recalling also the provisions of Chapter VIII of the Charter of the United Nations, and the continuing role that the European Community is playing in working for a peaceful solution in Bosnia and Herzegovina, as well as in other republics of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia,

Recalling its decision in resolution 752 (1992) to consider further steps to achieve a peaceful solution in conformity with relevant resolutions of the Council, and affirming its determination to take measures against any party or parties which fail to fulfil the requirements of resolution 752 (1992) and its other relevant resolutions,

Determined in this context to adopt certain measures with the sole objective of achieving a peaceful solution and encouraging the efforts undertaken by the European Community and its member States,

Recalling the right of States, under Article 50 of the Charter, to consult the Security Council where they find themselves confronted with special economic problems arising from the carrying out of preventive or enforcement measures,

Determining that the situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina and in other parts of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia constitutes a threat to international peace and security,

Acting under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations,

"Letter dated 17 July 1992 from the Permanent Representatives of Belgium, France and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/24305)".

The Security Council welcomes the agreement between the parties in Bosnia and Herzegovina, signed at London on 17 July 1992 within the framework of the Conference on Yugoslavia (S/24305).

The Council calls on the parties to comply fully with the agreement in all its aspects. In particular, it calls on all parties and others concerned to observe scrupulously the ceasefire throughout the entire territory of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Council has decided in principle to respond positively to the request for the United Nations to make arrangements for the supervision by the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR) of all heavy weapons (combat aircraft, armour, artillery, mortars, rocket-launchers, etc.) in accordance with the agreement of 17 July 1992. It requests the Secretary-General to report by 20 July on the implementation and resource implications of this decision.

The Council welcomes the provisions in the agreement concerning the return of all refugees and freedom of movement for civilians caught up in or trapped by the military situation. 24 July 1992

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3100th meeting, on 24 July 1992, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "Report of the Secretary-General on the situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina (S/24333)":

The Security Council recalls the statement of its President of 17 July 1992 (S/24307) concerning the Agreement signed in London on 17 July by the parties in Bosnia and Herzegovina (S/24305).

The Security Council takes note with appreciation of the Secretary-General's report (S/24333) submitted to it, in response to its request of 17 July 1992, together with a Concept of Operations.

The Council concurs with the Secretary-General's view that the conditions do not yet exist for the United Nations to supervise the heavy weapons in Bosnia and Herzegovina as envisaged in the London Agreement.

The Council invites the Secretary-General to contact all Member States, particularly the Member States of the relevant regional organizations in Europe, to ask them to make urgently available to the Secretary-General information about the personnel, equipment and logistic support which they would be prepared to contribute, individually or collectively, to the supervision of heavy weapons in Bosnia and Herzegovina as described in the Secretary-General's report.

In the light of the outcome of these contacts, the Secretary-General will undertake the further preparatory work needed on the supervision of the heavy weapons in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Recalling the provisions of Chapter VIII of the United Nations Charter, the Council invites the European regional arrangements and agencies concerned, and particularly the European Community, to enhance their cooperation with the Secretary-General in their efforts to help to resolve the conflicts that continue to rage in the former Yugoslavia. In particular, it would welcome the participation of the Secretary-General in any negotiations under European Community auspices.

The Council further invites the European Community in cooperation with the Secretary-General of the United Nations to examine the possibility of broadening and intensifying the present Conference with a view to providing a new momentum in the search for negotiated settlements of the various conflicts and disputes in the former Yugoslavia.

The Council underlines the importance of the parties to the Agreement signed at London on 17 July 1992 (S/24305) honouring fully the terms of that Agreement and calls on others concerned also to respect the Agreement. It emphasizes in particular the need for the parties to respect and maintain a cease-fire throughout the entire territory of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and for them to declare immediately to the Force Commander of UNPROFOR the locations and quantities of the heavy weapons to be placed under supervision. It further demands that the parties and others concerned cooperate fully with UNPROFOR and the humanitarian agencies and take all necessary steps to ensure the safety of their personnel.

The Council stresses the need for full compliance with all the requirements of its relevant resolutions and stands ready to consider immediately, whenever necessary, further steps to achieve a peaceful solution in conformity with its relevant resolutions.

The Council requests the Secretary-General to report back to it on the further work being undertaken and remains actively seized of the matter.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
30 October 1992

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3132nd meeting, held on 30 October 1992, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council remains concerned by the continuing conflict in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina with its resultant loss of life and material damage, which threatens international peace and security and by reports of egregious violations of international humanitarian law by whomsoever committed.

The Security Council is appalled by the most recent reports that Serb militia in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina are attacking civilians fleeing from the city of Jajce.

The Council strongly condemns any such attacks which constitute grave violations of international humanitarian law, including the Geneva Conventions, and reaffirms that persons who commit or order the commission of grave breaches of these Conventions are individually responsible in respect of such breaches. The Council wishes that such violations be brought to the attention of the Commission of Experts mentioned in resolution 780 (1992).

The Council demands that all such attacks cease immediately.

RESOLUTION 786 (1992)
10 November 1992

Adopted, as orally revised in its provisional form, by unanimous vote.
Prepared in the course of the Council's consultations.

The Security Council,

Reaffirming its resolution 781 (1992) of 9 October 1992,

Taking note of the report of the Secretary-General of 5 November 1992 (S/24767 and Add.1) and his subsequent letter of 6 November 1992 (S/24783) submitted pursuant to resolution 781 (1992),

Considering that the establishment of a ban on military flights in the airspace of Bosnia and Herzegovina constitutes an essential element for the safety of the delivery of humanitarian assistance and a decisive step for the cessation of hostilities in Bosnia and Herzegovina,

Taking into account the need for a speedy deployment of monitors on the ground for observation and verification purposes,

Gravely concerned at the indication in the Secretary-General's letter of 6 November 1992 of possible violations of its resolution 781 (1992) and of the impossibility of corroborating the information on such violations by technical means presently available to the United Nations Protection Force,

Determined to ensure the safety of humanitarian flights to Bosnia and Herzegovina,

3. Endorses the general concept of operations described in the Secretary-General's report and calls on all parties and others concerned, including all Governments operating aircraft in the area, to cooperate fully with the United Nations Protection Force in its implementation;

4. Calls upon all parties and others concerned henceforth to direct all requests for authorizations of flights pursuant to paragraph 3 of its resolution 781 (1992) to the United Nations Protection Force, with special provisions being made for flights of the United Nations Protection Force, and all other flights in support of United Nations operations, including humanitarian assistance;

5. Approves the recommendation in paragraph 10 of the Secretary-General's report that the strength of the United Nations Protection Force be increased, as proposed in paragraph 5 of the report, in order to permit it to implement the concept of operations;

6. Reiterates its determination to consider urgently, in the case of violations when further reported to it in accordance with its resolution 781 (1992), the further measures necessary to enforce the ban on military flights in the airspace of Bosnia and Herzegovina;

7. Decides to remain actively seized of the matter.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
2 December 1992

After consultations held on 2 December 1992, the President of the Security Council made the following statement to the media on behalf of the members of the Council:

The members of the Security Council wish to express their deep concern and outrage about the increasing number of attacks against United Nations personnel serving in various peace-keeping operations.

A number of serious incidents affecting military and civilian personnel serving with UNAVEM II, UNTAC and UNPROFOR have occurred during the last few days.

On 29 November in Uige, northern Angola, a Brazilian police observer with UNAVEM II was killed as a result of an outbreak of hostilities between UNITA and government forces, during which the UNAVEM camp was caught in the cross-fire. The members of the Council convey their deep sympathy and condolences to the Government of Brazil and to the bereaved family.

The situation in UNPROFOR, which has already suffered over 300 casualties, 20 of them fatal, remains deeply troubling. On 30 November, two Spanish UNPROFOR soldiers in Bosnia and Herzegovina were seriously injured in a mine attack and a Danish UNPROFOR soldier was abducted by armed men today.

On 1 December, two British UNTAC military observers and four naval observers, two from the Philippines, one from New Zealand and one from the United Kingdom, on patrol in Kompong Thom province were illegally detained by forces belonging to the National Army of Democratic Kampuchea (NADK). An UNTAC helicopter, sent to assist in the discussions for their release, was fired upon, and a French military observer on board was injured. Moreover, today, six UNTAC civilian police monitors, three Indonesians, two Tunisians and one Nepalese, were injured in two land mine incidents in Siem Reap province.

The members of the Council condemn these attacks on the safety and security of UN personnel and demand that all parties concerned take all necessary measures to prevent their recurrence. The members of the Council consider the abduction and detention of United Nations peace-keeping personnel as totally unacceptable and demand the immediate and unconditional release of the UNTAC and UNPROFOR personnel concerned.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
9 December 1992

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3146th meeting, held on 9 December 1992, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council is alarmed by the most recent reports that Serb militia in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina have renewed their offensive in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and in particular against the city of Sarajevo, resulting in further loss of life and material damage as well as in endangering the security of UNPROFOR and international relief workers, thus threatening international peace and security.

The Security Council is particularly alarmed by reports that the Serb militia in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina are forcing the inhabitants of Sarajevo to evacuate the city. The Council warns that actions aimed at impeding the distribution of humanitarian assistance and at forcing the inhabitants of Sarajevo to leave the city, including the possibility of ethnic cleansing, would have grave consequences for the overall situation in that country.

The Security Council strongly condemns these attacks as violations of its relevant resolutions and of previous commitments, in particular with regard to the cessation of hostilities, the ban on military flights in the airspace of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, the safety of humanitarian assistance to the civilian population and the restoration of power and water supplies.

The Security Council demands the immediate cessation of these attacks and of all actions aimed at impeding the distribution of humanitarian assistance and at forcing the inhabitants of Sarajevo to leave the city.

If such attacks and actions continue, the Security Council will consider, as soon as possible, further measures against those who commit or support them to ensure the security of UNPROFOR and of international relief workers, the ability of UNPROFOR to fulfil its mandate and compliance with the Council's relevant resolutions.

The Security Council will remain actively seized of the matter.

Demanding that all the detention camps and, in particular, camps for women should be immediately closed,

2. Strongly condemns these acts of unspeakable brutality;

3. Requests the Secretary-General to provide such necessary means of support as are available to him in the area to enable the European Community delegation to have free and secure access to the places of detention;

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
8 January 1993

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3159th meeting, held on 8 January 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council is profoundly shocked to learn of the killing of Mr. Hakija Turajlic, Deputy Prime Minister for Economic Affairs of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, by Bosnian-Serb forces, while he was under the protection of the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR).

The Council strongly condemns this outrageous act of terrorism which is a grave violation of international humanitarian law and a flagrant challenge to the authority and the inviolability of UNPROFOR, as well as to the serious efforts undertaken with the aim of achieving an overall political settlement of the crisis.

The Council urges all parties and others concerned to exercise the utmost restraint and to refrain from taking any action which might further exacerbate the situation.

The Council requests the Secretary-General to undertake a full investigation of the incident and to report to it without delay. Upon receipt of that report the Council will consider the matter forthwith.

The members of the Security Council extend their sincere condolences to the bereaved family of Mr. Turajlic and to the people and the Government of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
8 January 1993

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3160th meeting, held on 8 January 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council fully supports the efforts of the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia aimed at achieving an overall political settlement of the crisis through a complete cessation of hostilities and the establishment of a constitutional framework for the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina. In this connection, the Council reaffirms the need to respect fully the sovereignty, territorial integrity and political independence of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Council fully endorses the view of the Secretary-General described in his report (S/25050) that it is the duty of all the parties involved in the conflict in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, despite the recent provocation, to cooperate with the Co-Chairmen in bringing this conflict to an end swiftly.

The Council appeals to all the parties involved to cooperate to the fullest with the peace efforts and warns any party which would oppose an overall political settlement against the consequences of such an attitude; lack of cooperation and non-compliance with its relevant resolutions will compel the Security Council to review the situation in an urgent and most serious manner, and to consider further necessary measures.

RESOLUTION 802 (1993)
25 January 1993

Adopted, as orally revised in its provisional form, by unanimous vote.

Prepared in the course of the Council's consultations.

The Security Council,

Reaffirming its resolution 713 (1991) of 25 September 1991 and all subsequent relevant resolutions,

Reaffirming in particular its commitment to the United Nations peace-keeping plan (S/23280, Annex III),

Deeply concerned by the information provided by the Secretary-General to the Security Council on 25 January 1993 on the rapid and violent deterioration of the situation in Croatia as a result of military attacks by Croatian armed forces on the areas under the protection of the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR),

Strongly condemning those attacks which have led to casualties and loss of life in UNPROFOR, as well as among the civilian population,

Deeply concerned also by the lack of cooperation in recent months by the Serb local authorities in the areas under the protection of UNPROFOR, by the recent seizure by them of heavy weapons under UNPROFOR control, and by threats to widen the conflict,

1. Demands the immediate cessation of hostile activities by Croatian armed forces within or adjacent to the United Nations Protected Areas and the withdrawal of the Croatian armed forces from these areas;

2. Strongly condemns the attacks by these forces against UNPROFOR in the conduct of its duty of protecting civilians in the United Nations Protected Areas and demands their immediate cessation;

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
25 January 1993

Following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3164th meeting, on 25 January 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council notes with appreciation the efforts of the international community to alleviate the plight of the civilian population in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, whose lives have been severely affected by the fighting there. The Council has the highest regard for the efforts of the brave people who have undertaken to deliver urgently needed humanitarian assistance under extremely trying conditions to the civilian population in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, in particular, the efforts of the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR) and the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR). However, the Council deeply regrets that the situation there has imposed great limits on the international community in the fulfilment of its humanitarian mandate.

The Council reaffirms its demand that all parties and others concerned, in particular Serb paramilitary units, cease and desist forthwith from all violations of international humanitarian law being committed in the territory of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, including in particular the deliberate interference with humanitarian convoys. The Council warns the parties concerned of serious consequences, in accordance with relevant resolutions of the Security Council, if they continue to impede the delivery of humanitarian relief assistance.

The Council invites the Secretary-General to keep under continuous review the possibili. of air-dropping humanitarian assistance to areas isolated by the conflict in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Council will remain actively seized of the matter.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
27 January 1993

Following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3165th meeting, on 27 January 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation prevailing in and adjacent to the United Nations Protected Areas in Croatia":

The Security Council is deeply concerned to learn from the Secretary-General that the offensive by the Croatian armed forces continues unabated in flagrant violation of resolution 802 (1993) of 25 January 1993, at a crucial time in the peace process.

The Council demands that military action by all parties and others concerned cease immediately. It further demands that all parties and others concerned comply fully and immediately with all the provisions of resolution 802 (1993) and with other relevant Security Council resolutions.

The Council once again demands that all parties and others concerned respect fully the safety of United Nations personnel and guarantee their freedom of movement. The Council reiterates that it will hold the political and military leaders involved in the conflict responsible and accountable for the safety of the United Nations peace-keeping personnel in the area.

The Security Council will remain actively seized of the matter, in particular with a view to considering what further steps might be necessary to ensure that resolution 802 (1993) and other relevant Security Council resolutions are fully implemented.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
28 January 1993

After consultations held on 28 January 1993, the President of the Security Council made the following statement to the media on behalf of the members of the Council:

In connection with letters of 27 January 1993 from the Chargés of Bulgaria (S/25182) and Romania (S/25189) to the President of the Security Council, the members of the Council heard a report from the Chairman of the Committee established by resolution 724 (1991) about Yugoslav vessels carrying oil from Ukraine to Serbia by way of the Danube, a flagrant violation of mandatory Security Council resolutions.

The members of the Council are concerned that these shipments are reported to have left Ukrainian territory after the adoption of resolution 757 (1992) and indeed may have left after the adoption of resolution 787 (1992). They call on the Government of Ukraine to ensure that no further such shipments are permitted.

The members of the Council are also extremely concerned that some of the vessels have already reached Serbia. In this regard, they demand that the authorities of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) comply fully with the relevant resolutions. They have asked the President of the Council to convey their concern to the representatives of Romania and Bulgaria, to remind them of their clear obligations under the relevant resolutions and to seek an explanation of their failure to fulfil them. They have asked the President to draw particular attention to the relevant resolutions, which make clear the responsibility of all riparian States to take necessary measures to ensure that shipping on the Danube is in accordance with Security Council resolutions, including such enforcement measures commensurate with the specific circumstances as may be necessary to halt such shipping. The members of the Council reaffirm their support for vigorous enforcement of the relevant resolutions, and they are clear that the riparian States have the means to fulfil this obligation and that they must do so forthwith.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
10 February 1993

After consultations of the Security Council, held on 10 February 1993, the President of the Council made the following statement to the media on behalf of the members of the Council:

The members of the Security Council have heard a report from the Chairman of the Committee established by resolution 724 (1991) about the detention of Romanian vessels on the Danube by the authorities of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro).

They have learned that the Minister of Transport of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) has threatened to detain more Romanian vessels if Romania does not allow the passage of Yugoslav vessels on the Danube. They have also learned that the Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) has addressed a letter to the Chairman of the Committee established by resolution 724 (1991) informing him that the Romanian vessels would be released without further delay, which according to information provided by the Chargé d'affaires of the Permanent Mission of Romania to the United Nations has not yet happened.

The members of the Council recall their statement of 28 January 1993 (S/25190) about the responsibility of States to enforce mandatory Security Council resolutions, with particular reference to Yugoslav vessels attempting to violate those resolutions by way of the Danube. They commend the Romanian Government for the action it has since taken in this regard and reaffirm once again their full support for vigorous enforcement of the relevant resolutions.

They also recall that under Article 103 of the Charter, the obligations of the Members of the United Nations under the Charter prevail over their obligations under any other international agreement.

The members of the Council condemn any such retaliatory action and threats of such action by the FRY authorities. It is wholly unacceptable for those authorities to take retaliatory measures in response to action by a State in fulfilment of its obligations under the Charter of the United Nations. They demand that the FRY authorities release forthwith the Romanian vessels they have unjustifiedly detained, and that they desist from further unlawful detentions.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
17 February 1993

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3173rd meeting, held on 17 February 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council recalls all relevant resolutions of the Council and its statement of 25 January (S/25162) concerning the provision of humanitarian relief in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina. It notes with deep concern that, notwithstanding the Council's demand in that statement, relief efforts continue to be impeded. It condemns the blocking of humanitarian convoys and the impeding of relief supplies, which place at risk the civilian population of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina and endanger the lives of personnel delivering such supplies. It remains deeply concerned at reports of pressing humanitarian need in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, particularly in the eastern part of the country.

The Council reiterates its demand that the parties and all others concerned allow immediate and unimpeded access to humanitarian relief supplies. It further demands that the parties and others concerned give the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees the guarantees she has sought that they will abide by the promises they have made to comply with the Council's decisions in this regard, and thus facilitate the resumption of the full humanitarian relief programme, to which the Council attaches the greatest importance.

RESOLUTION 807 (1993)
19 February 1993

Adopted by unanimous vote.
Prepared in the course of the Council's consultations.

The Security Council,

Reaffirming its resolution 743 (1992) and all subsequent resolutions relating to the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR),

Having considered the report of the Secretary-General dated 10 February 1993 (S/25264 and Corr.1),

Deeply concerned by the lack of cooperation of the parties and others concerned in implementing the United Nations peace-keeping plan in Croatia (S/23280, Annex III),

Deeply concerned also by the recent and repeated violations by the parties and others concerned of their cease-fire obligations,

Determining that the situation thus created constitutes a threat to peace and security in the region,

Taking note in that context of the Secretary-General's request to the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, mentioned in his report (S/25264 and Corr.1), to establish as soon as possible, through discussions with the parties, a basis on which UNPROFOR's mandate could be renewed,

Determined to ensure the security of UNPROFOR and to this end, acting under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations,

1. Demands that the parties and others concerned comply fully with the United Nations peace-keeping plan in Croatia and with the other commitments they have undertaken and in particular with their cease-fire obligations;

2. Demands further that the parties and others concerned refrain from positioning their forces in the proximity of UNPROFOR's units in the United Nations Protected Areas (UNPAs) and in the pink zones;

3. Demands also the full and strict observance of all relevant Security Council resolutions relating to the mandate and operations of UNPROFOR in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina;

4. Demands also that the parties and others concerned respect fully UNPROFOR's unimpeded freedom of movement enabling it inter alia to carry out all necessary concentrations and deployments, all movements of equipment and weapons and all humanitarian and logistical activities;

5. Decides, in the context of these demands, to extend UNPROFOR's mandate for an interim period terminating on 31 March 1993;

6. Urges the parties and others concerned fully to cooperate with the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia in the discussions under their auspices in order to ensure full implementation of the United Nations peace-keeping mandate in Croatia, including inter alia through the collection and supervision of heavy weapons by UNPROFOR and the appropriate withdrawal of forces;

7. Invites the Secretary-General to work to achieve the rapid implementation of the United Nations peace-keeping mandate and of relevant Security Council resolutions, including resolution 802 (1993), thus to ensure security and stability throughout the UNPAs and the pink zones;

8. Invites further the Secretary-General, during the interim period and in consultation with the force-contributing States, to take, in accordance with paragraph 17 of his report, all appropriate measures to strengthen the security of UNPROFOR, in particular by providing it with the necessary defensive means, and to study the possibility of carrying out such local redeployment of military units as is required to ensure their protection;

9. Requests the Secretary-General to submit a report on the further extension of UNPROFOR's mandate, including financial estimates for all UNPROFOR's activities as proposed in his report of 10 February 1993 (S/25264 and Corr.1);

10. Decides to remain actively seized of the matter.

RESOLUTION 808 (1993)
22 February 1993

Adopted by unanimous vote.
Prepared in the course of the Council's consultations.

The Security Council,

Reaffirming its resolution 713 (1991) of 25 September 1991 and all subsequent relevant resolutions,

Recalling paragraph 10 of its resolution 764 (1992) of 13 July 1992, in which it reaffirmed that all parties are bound to comply with the obligations under international humanitarian law and in particular the Geneva Conventions of 12 August 1949, and that persons who commit or order the commission of grave breaches of the Conventions are individually responsible in respect of such breaches,

Recalling also its resolution 771 (1992) of 13 August 1992, in which, inter alia, it demanded that all parties and others concerned in the former Yugoslavia, and all military forces in Bosnia and Herzegovina, immediately cease and desist from all breaches of international humanitarian law,

Recalling further its resolution 780 (1992) of 6 October 1992, in which it requested the Secretary-General to establish, as a matter of urgency, an impartial Commission of Experts to examine and analyse the information submitted pursuant to resolutions 771 (1992) and 780 (1992), together with such further information as the Commission of Experts may obtain, with a view to providing the Secretary-General with its conclusions on the evidence of grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions and other violations of international humanitarian law committed in the territory of the former Yugoslavia,

Having considered the interim report of the Commission of Experts established by resolution 780 (1992) (S/25274), in which the Commission observed that a decision to establish an ad hoc international tribunal in relation to events in the territory of the former Yugoslavia would be consistent with the direction of its work,

Expressing once again its grave alarm at continuing reports of widespread violations of international humanitarian law occurring within the territory of the former Yugoslavia, including reports of mass killings and the continuance of the practice of "ethnic cleansing",

Determining that this situation constitutes a threat to international peace and security,

Determined to put an end to such crimes and to take effective measures to bring to justice the persons who are responsible for them,

Convinced that in the particular circumstances of the former Yugoslavia the establishment of an international tribunal would enable this aim to be achieved and would contribute to the restoration and maintenance of peace,

Noting in this regard the recommendation by the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia for the establishment of such a tribunal (S/25221),

Noting also with grave concern the "report of the European Community investigative mission into the treatment of Muslim women in the former Yugoslavia" (S/25240, Annex I),

Noting further the report of the committee of jurists submitted by France (S/25266), the report of the commission of jurists submitted by Italy (S/25300), and the report transmitted by the Permanent Representative of Sweden on behalf of the Chairman-in-Office of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE) (S/25307),

1. Decides that an international tribunal shall be established for the prosecution of persons responsible for serious violations of international humanitarian law committed in the territory of the former Yugoslavia since 1991;

2. Requests the Secretary-General to submit for consideration by the Council at the earliest possible date, and if possible no later than 60 days after the adoption of the present resolution, a report on all aspects of this matter, including specific proposals and where appropriate options for the effective and expeditious implementation of the decision contained in paragraph 1 above, taking into account suggestions put forward in this regard by Member States;

3. Decides to remain actively seized of the matter.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
24 February 1993

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3176th meeting, on 24 February 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council, having heard a report from the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, is concerned that the present opportunity to reach a negotiated settlement in Bosnia and Herzegovina should not be allowed to slip by. It endorses fully the statement by the President of the United States of America and the Secretary-General of the United Nations on 23 February, calling on the leaders of the parties involved in the peace talks on Bosnia and Herzegovina to come to New York immediately to resume discussions with a view to the early conclusion of an agreement to end the conflict. The Council urges these leaders to respond quickly and positively to that call, and stands ready to give its full support to the efforts of the Co-Chairmen to bring the talks to a successful conclusion.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
25 February 1993

Following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3177th meeting, on 25 February 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council, having received a report from the Secretary-General, recalls all its relevant resolutions and its statements of 25 January 1993 (S/25162) and 17 February 1993 (S/25302) concerning the provision of humanitarian relief in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina. It is deeply concerned that, in spite of its repeated demands, relief efforts continue to be impeded by Serb paramilitary units, especially in the eastern part of the country, namely in the enclaves of Srebrenica, Cerska, Gorazde and Zepa.

The Security Council deplores the deterioration of the humanitarian situation in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina at a time when discussions are to resume with a view to reaching a just and durable agreement to end the conflict. It regards the blockade of relief efforts as a serious impediment to a negotiated settlement in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina and to the efforts of the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia. It notes with concern that the measures taken by Serb paramilitary units to interdict humanitarian convoys, in flagrant violation of relevant Security Council resolutions, expose the personnel of UNPROFOR and UNHCR as well as other humanitarian organizations to physical harm.

The deliberate impeding of the delivery of food and humanitarian relief essential for the survival of the civilian population in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina constitutes a violation of the Geneva Conventions of 1949, and the Security Council is committed to ensuring that individuals responsible for such acts are brought to justice.

The Security Council strongly condemns once again the blocking of humanitarian convoys that has impeded the delivery of humanitarian supplies. It reiterates its demand that the Bosnian parties grant immediate and unimpeded access for humanitarian convoys and fully comply with the Security Council's decisions in this regard. The Security Council expresses its strong support for the use, in full coordination with the United Nations and in accordance with the relevant Security Council resolutions, of humanitarian air drops in isolated areas of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina that are in critical need of humanitarian supplies and cannot be reached by ground convoys. It reaffirms its firm commitment to the full implementation of the humanitarian relief programme in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Security Council remains actively seized of the matter and continues its consideration of further steps, in accordance with its relevant resolutions.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
3 March 1993

Following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3180th meeting, on 3 March 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council, recalling all its relevant resolutions and statements, expresses its grave concern at and condemns the continuing unacceptable military attacks in eastern Bosnia and the resulting deterioration in the humanitarian situation in that region. It is appalled that even as peace talks are continuing attacks by Serb paramilitary units, including, reportedly, the killings of innocent civilians, continue in eastern Bosnia. In this connection, the Security Council is particularly concerned about the fall of the town of Cerska and the imminent fall of neighbouring villages. The Security Council demands that the killings and atrocities must stop and reaffirms that those guilty of crimes against international humanitarian law will be held individually responsible by the world community.

The Security Council demands that the leaders of all the parties to the conflict in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina remain fully engaged in New York in a sustained effort with the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia to reach quickly a fair and workable settlement. In this connection, the Security Council also demands that all sides immediately cease all forms of military action throughout the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, cease acts of violence against civilians, comply with their previous commitments including the cease-fire, and redouble their efforts to settle the conflict.

The Security Council further demands that the Bosnian Serb side as well as all other parties refrain from taking any action which might endanger the lives and well-being of the inhabitants of eastern Bosnia, particularly in the areas near the town of Cerska, and that all concerned allow the unimpeded access of humanitarian relief supplies throughout the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, especially humanitarian access to the besieged cities of eastern Bosnia, and permit the evacuation of the wounded.

Having determined in the relevant resolutions that this situation constitutes a threat to international peace and security, the Security Council insists that these steps must be taken immediately.

The Security Council also requests the Secretary-General to take immediate steps to increase UNPROFOR's presence in eastern Bosnia.

The Security Council remains seized of the matter and is ready to meet at any moment to consider further action.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
17 March 1993

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3184th meeting, held on 17 March 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council has been informed by the Secretary-General in a letter of 12 March 1993 of the violation on 11 March 1993 by military jets, proceeding from the airport of Banja Luka, of Security Council resolution 781 (1992), relating to the prohibition of military flights in the airspace of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, notwithstanding the fact that the Bosnian Serbs at the airport had received appropriate notification by United Nations observers that such flights would constitute a violation of the said resolution.

The Security Council equally takes note of the report by the Secretary-General in his letter of 16 March 1993 indicating that on 13 March 1993 new violations of the no-fly zone took place by planes that proceeded to bomb the villages of Gladovici and Osatica in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina before leaving in the direction of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro). The above flights are the first violations of Security Council resolution 781 (1992) observed by UNPROFOR which involved combat activity.

The Security Council strongly condemns all violations of its relevant resolutions and underlines the fact that since the beginning of the monitoring operations in early November 1992, the United Nations has reported 465 violations of the no-fly zone over the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Security Council demands that these violations cease forthwith and reiterates its strong determination to ensure full respect of its resolutions. It particularly underlines its condemnation of all violations, especially those reported by the Secretary-General in his letters referred to above, at a time when the peace process has reached a critical juncture and when humanitarian relief efforts require full cooperation by all parties.

The Security Council demands from the Bosnian Serbs an immediate explanation of the aforementioned violations and particularly of the aerial bombardment of the villages of Gladovici and Osatica.

It requests the Secretary-General to ensure that an investigation is made of the reported possible use of the territory of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) to launch air attacks against the territory of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Security Council has mandated its President to convey to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) and to leader of the Bosnian Serbs its deepest concern about the above-mentioned developments, and its demand that they take immediate action to prevent any repetitions of these attacks.

The Security Council will continue to consider what additional steps may be required to secure implementation of the provisions of relevant Security Council resolutions.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
25 March 1993

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3186th meeting, held on 25 March 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council warmly welcomes the signature by President Alija Izetbegovic and Mr. Mate Boban of all four documents of the Peace Plan for Bosnia and Herzegovina worked out by the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia.

On this important occasion the Security Council pays tribute to the untiring efforts of the Co-Chairmen, Secretary Vance and Lord Owen.

The Council commends the action of the two parties who have signed all the documents and calls on the remaining party to sign without delay the two documents of the Peace Plan that it has not already signed and to cease its violence, offensive military actions, "ethnic cleansing" and obstruction of humanitarian assistance.

The Council calls for an immediate cessation of hostilities by all parties.

The Council looks forward to receiving a report from the Secretary-General on the developments in the International Conference and stands ready to take action to follow up on the report and to take the steps required to bring about the peace settlement.

Recalling paragraph 6 of resolution 781 (1992) and paragraph 6 of resolution 786 (1992) in which the Council undertook to consider urgently, in the case of violations of the ban on military flights in the airspace of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, the further measures necessary to enforce the ban,

Deploring the failure of some parties concerned to cooperate fully with United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR) airfield monitors in the implementation of resolutions 781 (1992) and 786 (1992);

Deeply concerned by the various reports of the Secretary-General concerning violations of the ban on military flights in the airspace of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina (S/24783, S/24810, S/24840, S/24870, S/24900 and Add.1 to 31),

Deeply concerned in particular by the Secretary-General's letters to the President of the Security Council of 12 and 16 March 1993 (S/25443 and S/25444) concerning new blatant violations of the ban on military flights in the airspace of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and recalling in this regard the statement by the President of the Security Council of 17 March 1993 (S/25426), and in particular the reference to the bombing of villages in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina,

Recalling the provisions of Chapter VIII of the Charter of the United Nations,

Authorizes Member States, seven days after the adoption of this resolution, acting nationally or through regional organizations or arrangements, to take, under the authority of the Security Council and subject to close coordination with the Secretary-General and UNPROFOR, all necessary measures in the airspace of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, in the event of further violations, to ensure compliance with the ban on flights referred to in paragraph 1 above, and proportionate to the specific circumstances and the nature of the flights;

5. Requests the Member States concerned, the Secretary-General and UNPROFOR to coordinate closely on the measures they are taking to implement paragraph 4 above, including the rules of engagement, and on the starting date of its implementation, which should be no later than seven days from the date when the authority conferred by paragraph 4 above takes effect, and to report the starting date to the Council through the Secretary-General;

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
3 April 1993

Following consultations with the members of the Security Council, the President of the Council made the following statement, on behalf of the Council, at its 3192nd meeting, on 3 April 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The Security Council is shocked by and extremely alarmed at the dire and worsening humanitarian situation which has developed in Srebrenica in the eastern part of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina following the unacceptable decision of the Bosnian Serb party not to permit any further humanitarian aid to be delivered to that town, and to allow only evacuation of its civilian population. The relevant facts are contained in a letter dated 2 April 1993, addressed to the Secretary-General by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (S/25519, Annex).

The Security Council recalls and reaffirms all its relevant resolutions and statements and condemns the continuing disregard and willful flouting of the relevant Security Council resolutions and statements by the Bosnian Serb party, which once again, in pursuit of its unlawful, unacceptable and abhorrent policy of "ethnic cleansing" aimed at territorial aggrandizement, has blocked the United Nations humanitarian relief efforts.

Recognizing the imperative need to alleviate, with the utmost urgency, the sufferings of the population in and around Srebrenica who are in desperate need of food, medicine, clothes and shelter, the Security Council demands that the Bosnian Serb party, cease and desist forthwith from all violations of international humanitarian law, including in particular the deliberate interference with humanitarian convoys, and allow all such convoys unhindered access to the town of Srebrenica and other parts in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina. The Security Council demands that the Bosnian Serb party strictly comply with all relevant resolutions of the Security Council. It further demands that the Bosnian Serb party honour forthwith its most recent commitment "to guarantee the free movement of humanitarian convoys and the protection of endangered civilians". The Security Council also reaffirms that those guilty of crimes against international humanitarian law will be held individually responsible by the world community.

The Security Council commends and strongly supports the efforts of the brave people who have undertaken to deliver urgently needed humanitarian assistance, under extremely trying conditions, to the civilian population in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and in particular the efforts of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR).

The Security Council recalls the request it made in its statement of 3 March 1993 (S/25361) to the Secretary-General to take immediate steps to increase UNPROFOR's presence in eastern Bosnia; welcomes the action taken already in that respect; and urges the Secretary-General and the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees to use all the resources at their disposal within the scope of the relevant resolutions of the Council to reinforce the existing humanitarian operations in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Security Council will remain actively seized of the matter.

RESOLUTION 817 (1993)
7 April 1993

Adopted, in accordance with the understanding reached in prior consultations among members of the Council and upon a proposal by the President, without a vote.

The Security Council,

Having examined the application for admission to the United Nations in document S/25147,

Noting that the applicant fulfils the criteria for membership in the United Nations laid down in Article 4 of the Charter,

Noting however that a difference has arisen over the name of the State, which needs to be resolved in the interest of the maintenance of peaceful and good-neighbourly relations in the region,

Welcoming the readiness of the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, at the request of the Secretary-General, to use their good offices to settle the above-mentioned difference, and to promote confidence-building measures among the parties,

Taking note of the contents of the letters contained in documents S/25541, S/25542 and S/25543 received from the parties,

1. Urges the parties to continue to cooperate with the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia in order to arrive at a speedy settlement of their difference;

2. Recommends to the General Assembly that the State whose application is contained in document S/25147 be admitted to membership in the United Nations, this State being provisionally referred to for all purposes within the United Nations as "the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia" pending settlement of the difference that has arisen over the name of the State;

3. Requests the Secretary-General to report to the Council on the outcome of the initiative taken by the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
7 April 1993

At the 3196th meeting of the Security Council, held on 7 April 1993, in connection with the Council's consideration of the item "Admission of new Members", the President of the Security Council made the following statement on behalf of the members:

The Security Council has just recommended that the State whose application is in document S/25147 be admitted to membership in the United Nations. It is with great pleasure that, on behalf of the members of the Council, I congratulate the State concerned on this historic occasion. The members of the Council look forward to its early admission to the United Nations.

The Council welcomes the initiative taken by the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, at the request of the Secretary-General, in order to set up a mechanism to settle the difference which has arisen over the name of the State, and to promote confidence-building measures among the two parties. The Council attaches the highest importance to implementing as soon as possible the confidence-building measures referred to in the resolution which has just been adopted. The Council expresses the hope that the initiative of the Co-Chairmen will be pursued expeditiously, that both sides will fully cooperate with the Co-Chairmen, that both sides, and all others concerned, will avoid taking steps that would render a solution more difficult, and that both will accept and implement the outcome. A mutually acceptable solution to these matters would be a major contribution to the maintenance of peaceful and good-neighbourly relations in the region.

The Council is clear that the reference in the resolution that has just been adopted to "the former Yugoslav Republic" carries no implication whatsoever that the State concerned has any connection with the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro). It merely reflects the historic fact that the State recommended for admission to the United Nations in the present resolution was in the past a republic of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia.

On 8 April 1993, the United Nations General Assembly, by its resolution 47/225, decided to admit to membership in the United Nations the State provisionally referred to as "the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia" pending settlement of the difference that has arisen over the name of the State.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
8 April 1993

After consultations of the Council held on 8 April 1993, the President of the Security Council made the following statement to the media on behalf of the members of the Council in connection with the item entitled "The situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The members of the Security Council express their concern at the report of the International Committee of the Red Cross, according to which 17 detainees lost their lives on 26 March 1993 in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, when the vehicle transporting them from the Batkovic Camp (under the control of Serb forces) for work at the front was ambushed.

The members of the Council, recalling all the relevant resolutions and statements of the Council, remind all the parties that they are responsible at all times for the detainees' safety and that they must not compel detainees to do work of a military nature or destined to serve a military purpose. The ICRC had already repeatedly called on all parties to the conflict in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina strictly to observe the provisions of international humanitarian law.

The members of the Council condemn all violations of the Third and Fourth Geneva Conventions, which the parties have undertaken to respect, and reaffirm once again that those who commit or order the commission of such acts will be held personally responsible.

The members of the Council request the Commission of Experts established pursuant to Security Council resolution 780 (1992) to carry out an investigation of these abominable practices and to make a report.

RESOLUTION 819 (1993)
16 April 1993

Adopted by unanimous vote.
Prepared in the course of the Council's consultations.

The Security Council,

Reaffirming its resolution 713 (1991) of 25 September 1991 and all its subsequent relevant resolutions,

Taking note that the International Court of Justice in its Order of 8 April 1993 in the case concerning application of the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide (Bosnia and Herzegovina v. Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro)) unanimously indicated as a provisional measure that the Government of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) should immediately, in pursuance of its undertaking in the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide of 9 December 1948, take all measures within its power to prevent the commission of the crime of genocide,

Reaffirming the sovereignty, territorial integrity and political independence of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina,

Reaffirming its call on the parties and others concerned to observe immediately the cease-fire throughout the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina,

Reaffirming its condemnation of all violations of international humanitarian law, including, in particular, the practice of "ethnic cleansing",

Concerned by the pattern of hostilities by Bosnian Serb paramilitary units against towns and villages in eastern Bosnia and in this regard reaffirming that any taking or acquisition of territory by the threat or use of force, including through the practice of "ethnic cleansing", is unlawful and unacceptable,

Deeply alarmed at the information provided by the Secretary-General to the Security Council on 16 April 1993 on the rapid deterioration of the situation in Srebrenica and its surrounding areas, as a result of the continued deliberate armed attacks and shelling of the innocent civilian population by Bosnian Serb paramilitary units,

Strongly condemning the deliberate interdiction by Bosnian Serb paramilitary units of humanitarian assistance convoys,

Also strongly condemning the actions taken by Bosnian Serb paramilitary units against UNPROFOR, in particular, their refusal to guarantee the safety and freedom of movement of UNPROFOR personnel,

Aware that a tragic humanitarian emergency has already developed in Srebrenica and its surrounding areas as a direct consequence of the brutal actions of Bosnian Serb paramilitary units, forcing the large-scale displacement of civilians, in particular women, children and the elderly,

Recalling the provisions of resolution 815 (1993) on the mandate of UNPROFOR and in that context acting under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations,

1. Demands that all parties and others concerned treat Srebrenica and its surroundings as a safe area which should be free from any armed attack or any other hostile act;

2. Demands also to that effect the immediate cessation of armed attacks by Bosnian Serb paramilitary units against Srebrenica and their immediate withdrawal from the areas surrounding Srebrenica;

3. Demands that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) immediately cease the supply of military arms, equipment and services to the Bosnian Serb paramilitary units in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina;

4. Requests the Secretary-General, with a view to monitoring the humanitarian situation in the safe area, to take immediate steps to increase the presence of UNPROFOR in Srebrenica and its surroundings; demands that all parties and others concerned cooperate fully and promptly with UNPROFOR towards that end; and requests the Secretary-General to report urgently thereon to the Security Council;

5. Reaffirms that any taking or acquisition of territory by the threat or use of force, including through the practice of "ethnic cleansing", is unlawful and unacceptable;

6. Condemns and rejects the deliberate actions of the Bosnian Serb party to force the evacuation of the civilian population from Srebrenica and its surrounding areas as well as from other parts of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina as part of its overall abhorrent campaign of "ethnic cleansing";

7. Reaffirms its condemnation of all violations of international humanitarian law, in particular the practice of "ethnic cleansing" and reaffirms that those who commit or order the commission of such acts shall be held individually responsible in respect of such acts;

8. Demands the unimpeded delivery of humanitarian assistance to all parts of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, in particular to the civilian population of Srebrenica and its surrounding areas and recalls that such impediments to the delivery of humanitarian assistance constitute a serious violation of international humanitarian law;

9. Urges the Secretary-General and the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees to use all the resources at their disposal within the scope of the relevant resolutions of the Council to reinforce the existing humanitarian operations in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina in particular Srebrenica and its surroundings;

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
21 April 1993

After consultations of the Council held on 21 April 1993, the President of the Security Council made the following statement to the media on behalf of the members of the Council in connection with the item entitled "The situation in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina":

The members of the Security Council are deeply concerned by the reports on the outbreak of military hostilities between Bosnian governmental forces and Bosnian Croat paramilitary units north and west of Sarajevo. They are appalled by the reports corroborated by UNPROFOR of atrocities and killings, in particular the setting on fire of Muslim houses and the shooting of entire families in two villages by Bosnian Croat paramilitary units.

The members of the Security Council strongly condemn this new outbreak of violence undermining the overall efforts to establish a cease-fire and achieve a political solution of the conflict in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina and demand that Bosnian governmental forces and Bosnian Croat paramilitary units cease immediately those hostilities and that all parties refrain from taking any action which endangers the lives and well-being of the inhabitants of the region, strictly comply with their previous commitments including the cease-fire and redouble their efforts to settle the conflict. They call upon all the parties to cooperate with the current efforts in this regard by UNPROFOR and Lord Owen, Co-Chairman of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia.

The members of the Security Council also demand that the Bosnian Serbs fully implement resolution 819 (1993), including the immediate withdrawal from the areas surrounding Srebrenica, and allow UNPROFOR personnel unimpeded access to the town.

The Security Council,

Reaffirming its resolution 713 (1991) of 25 September 1991 and all subsequent relevant resolutions,

Considering that the State formerly known as the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia has ceased to exist,

Recalling resolution 757 (1992) of 30 May 1992 which notes that "the claim by the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) to continue automatically the membership of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia in the United Nations has not been generally accepted",

Recalling also its resolution 777 (1992) of 19 September 1992, in which it recommended to the General Assembly that it decide that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) should apply for membership in the United Nations and that it shall not participate in the work of the General Assembly,

Recalling further that the General Assembly by resolution 47/1 of 22 September 1992, having received the recommendation of the Security Council of 19 September 1992, considered that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) could not continue automatically the membership of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia in the United Nations; and therefore decided that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) should apply for membership in the United Nations and that it shall not participate in the work of the General Assembly,

Recalling further that in its resolution 777 (1992) the Council decided to consider the matter again before the end of the main part of the forty-seventh session of the General Assembly, and that in December 1992 the members of the Council agreed to keep the subject-matter of resolution 777 (1992) under continuous review and to consider it again at a later date (S/24924),

1. Reaffirms that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) cannot continue automatically the membership of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia in the United Nations; and therefore recommends to the General Assembly that, further to the decisions taken in resolution 47/1, it decide that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) shall not participate in the work of the Economic and Social Council;

2. Decides to consider the matter again before the end of the forty-seventh session of the General Assembly.

On 29 April 1993, the United Nations General Assembly agreed with the Security Council recommendation by adopting its resolution 47/229.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
3 May 1993

Following consultations held on 3 May 1993, the President of the Security Council made the following statement to the press:

The members of the Security Council welcome the fact that the Vance-Owen peace plan has now been signed in its entirety by all the parties. They welcome also the report by the Secretary-General on the activities of the Co-Chairmen of the Steering Committee of the International Conference on the Former Yugoslavia, and will consider urgently what concrete actions to take in the light of that report. They have started consultations to that effect.

RESOLUTION 824 (1993)
6 May 1993

Adopted by unanimous vote.
Prepared in the course of the Council's consultations.

The Security Council,

Reaffirming all its earlier relevant resolutions,

Reaffirming also the sovereignty, territorial integrity and political independence of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina,

Having considered the report of the Mission of the Security Council to the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina (S/25700) authorized by resolution 819 (1993), and in particular, its recommendations that the concept of safe areas be extended to other towns in need of safety,

Reaffirming again its condemnation of all violations of international humanitarian law, in particular, ethnic cleansing and all practices conducive thereto, as well as the denial or the obstruction of access of civilians to humanitarian aid and services such as medical assistance and basic utilities,

Taking into consideration the urgent security and humanitarian needs faced by several towns in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina as exacerbated by the constant influx of large numbers of displaced persons including, in particular, the sick and wounded,

Taking also into consideration the formal request submitted by the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina (S/25718),

Deeply concerned at the continuing armed hostilities by Bosnian Serb paramilitary units against several towns in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina and determined to ensure peace and stability throughout the country, most immediately in the towns of Sarajevo, Tuzla, Zepa, Gorazde, Bihac, as well as Srebrenica,

Convinced that the threatened towns and their surroundings should be treated as safe areas, free from armed attacks and from any other hostile acts which endanger the well-being and the safety of their inhabitants,

Aware in this context of the unique character of the city of Sarajevo, as a multicultural, multi-ethnic and pluri-religious centre which exemplifies the viability of coexistence and interrelations between all the communities of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and of the need to preserve it and avoid its further destruction,

Affirming that nothing in the present resolution should be construed as contradicting or in any way departing from the spirit or the letter of the peace plan for the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina,

Convinced that treating the towns referred to above as safe areas will contribute to the early implementation of the peace plan,

Convinced also that further steps must be taken as necessary to achieve the security of all such safe areas,

Recalling the provisions of resolution 815 (1993) on the mandate of UNPROFOR and in that context acting under Chapter VII of the Charter,

1. Welcomes the report of the Mission of the Security Council established pursuant to resolution 819 (1993), and in particular its recommendations concerning safe areas;

2. Demands that any taking of territory by force cease immediately;

3. Declares that the capital city of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, Sarajevo, and other such threatened areas, in particular the towns of Tuzla, Zepa, Gorazde, Bihac, as well as Srebrenica, and their surroundings should be treated as safe areas by all the parties concerned and should be free from armed attacks and from any other hostile act;

4. Further declares that in these safe areas the following should be observed:

(a) The immediate cessation of armed attacks or any hostile act against these safe areas, and the withdrawal of all Bosnian Serb military or paramilitary units from these towns to a distance wherefrom they cease to constitute a menace to their security and that of their inhabitants to be monitored by United Nations military observers;

(b) Full respect by all parties of the rights of the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR) and the international humanitarian agencies to free and unimpeded access to all safe-areas in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina and full respect for the safety of the personnel engaged in these operations;

5. Demands to that end that all parties and others concerned cooperate fully with UNPROFOR and take any necessary measures to respect these safe areas;

6. Requests the Secretary-General to take appropriate measures with a view to monitoring the humanitarian situation in the safe areas and to that end, authorizes the strengthening of UNPROFOR by an additional 50 United Nations military observers, together with related equipment and logistical support; and in this connection, also demands that all parties and all others concerned cooperate fully and promptly with UNPROFOR;

7. Declares its readiness, in the event of the failure by any party to comply with the present resolution, to consider immediately the adoption of any additional measures necessary with a view to its full implementation, including to ensure respect for the safety of United Nations personnel;

8. Declares also that arrangements pursuant to the present resolution shall remain in force up until the provisions for the cessation of hostilities, separation of forces and supervision of heavy weaponry as envisaged in the peace plan for the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, are implemented;

9. Decides to remain seized of the matter.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
7 May 1993

Following consultations held on 7 May 1993, the President of the Security Council made the following statement to the press:

Members of the Security Council reaffirmed their position that the basis for a peaceful solution to the conflict in Bosnia and Herzegovina is the Vance-Owen peace plan and that the Bosnian Serbs must return to it.

They also expressed the conviction that preparatory work for implementation of the plan by the Secretary-General and others should continue actively in the interim.
